WILSON HIGH SCHOOL
SCHOOL DISTRICT OF SPRING
The

Wilsonian

Often referred to as a "bread and butter dramatist," William Shakespeare made his living by writing plays and poems. To ensure himself of a paying audience, he catered to the whims of the public. Without the assistance of the modern theatre and its elaborate scenery and properties, comfortable seats, and actresses, Shakespeare's productions were masterpieces.

Although the Wilsonian Staff does not have to make its living by means of this publication, we, too, have strived to please our reading audience. Having the most modern facilities at our command, we have attempted to create "our own little masterpiece."

Dramatis Personae

Act 1 A Winter's Tale

Administration — The story of the administrators' winter.

Act 2 Romeo and Juliet

Seniors — Every senior, a Romeo or a Juliet in his or her own right.

Act 3 Much Ado about Nothing

Underclassmen — The truly important underclassmen.

Act 4 As You Like It

Extra-curricular Activities — Music, sports, publications, clubs and assemblies — choose "as you like it."

William Shakespeare, every inch a king in the world of literature, is as modern as today's flaming youth. Though many students contend that Shakespeare is only for the intellectual, what student hasn't used or heard the following Shakespearian expressions: It's Greek to me, get the drift, green-eyed monster, elbow room, a sorry sight and in my mind's eye?

Men today are as greedy for power as Shakespeare's Macbeth was and having gone to the same extremes, they come to the same end. Women today exhibit the same graciousness and compassion as Portia did in The Merchant of Venice.

Though his formal education was limited, his understanding of human nature and his ability to describe man's frailties have amazed even the greatest literary critics. Shakespeare's characters were more than mere figments of his imagination. Although many of his personalities were actual historical figures, the ones he created possessed down-to-earth qualities — good and bad.

Thus, the Wilsonian staff feels that this great man of literature has been, is and will continue to be an inspiration to flaming youth.

Alma Mater

Mounted on the verdant hilltop,
Looking o'er the town,
Proudly stands our high school building,
As the sun goes down.

Daily youth will tread the pathway,
To its open door,
Finding there a wealth of learning
As they did of yore.

Thus we dedicate this structure,
Monument to youth,
Ever striving, ever learning,
Loyalty and truth.

Wilson High School! Wilson High School!
Sing with all your might.
We will rally round the standard
Of the Red and White.

Code of Honor

As a pupil of Wilson High School, I will strive

To Be Honest

To myself and my associates
in and out of school;

To Be Loyal

To my school and its traditions;

To Have Courage

To face the hardships
of life squarely;

To Be Clean

In my personal habits, body and mind;

To Acquire Knowledge

To make the game of life easier;

To Be Courteous

To all my associates, keeping in mind:
To do unto others as you would have them do unto you.

Miss Virginia Zug

"This above all: to thine ownself be true,
And it must follow, as the night the day,
Thou canst not then be false to any man."

With fond regard and deep respect, we, the class of 1957, dedicate our yearbook, the Wilsonian, to Miss Virginia E. Zug. Throughout our years at Wilson High, Miss Zug has been an inspiration to all. As a senior class advisor, she has given of her time and effort for the betterment of our class. This small but mighty directress of our senior class play has tirelessly coached us seniors not only in the Wilson High School auditorium, but also on the great stage of life — for: "All the world's a stage and all the men and women merely players."

A Winter's Tale

Act 1

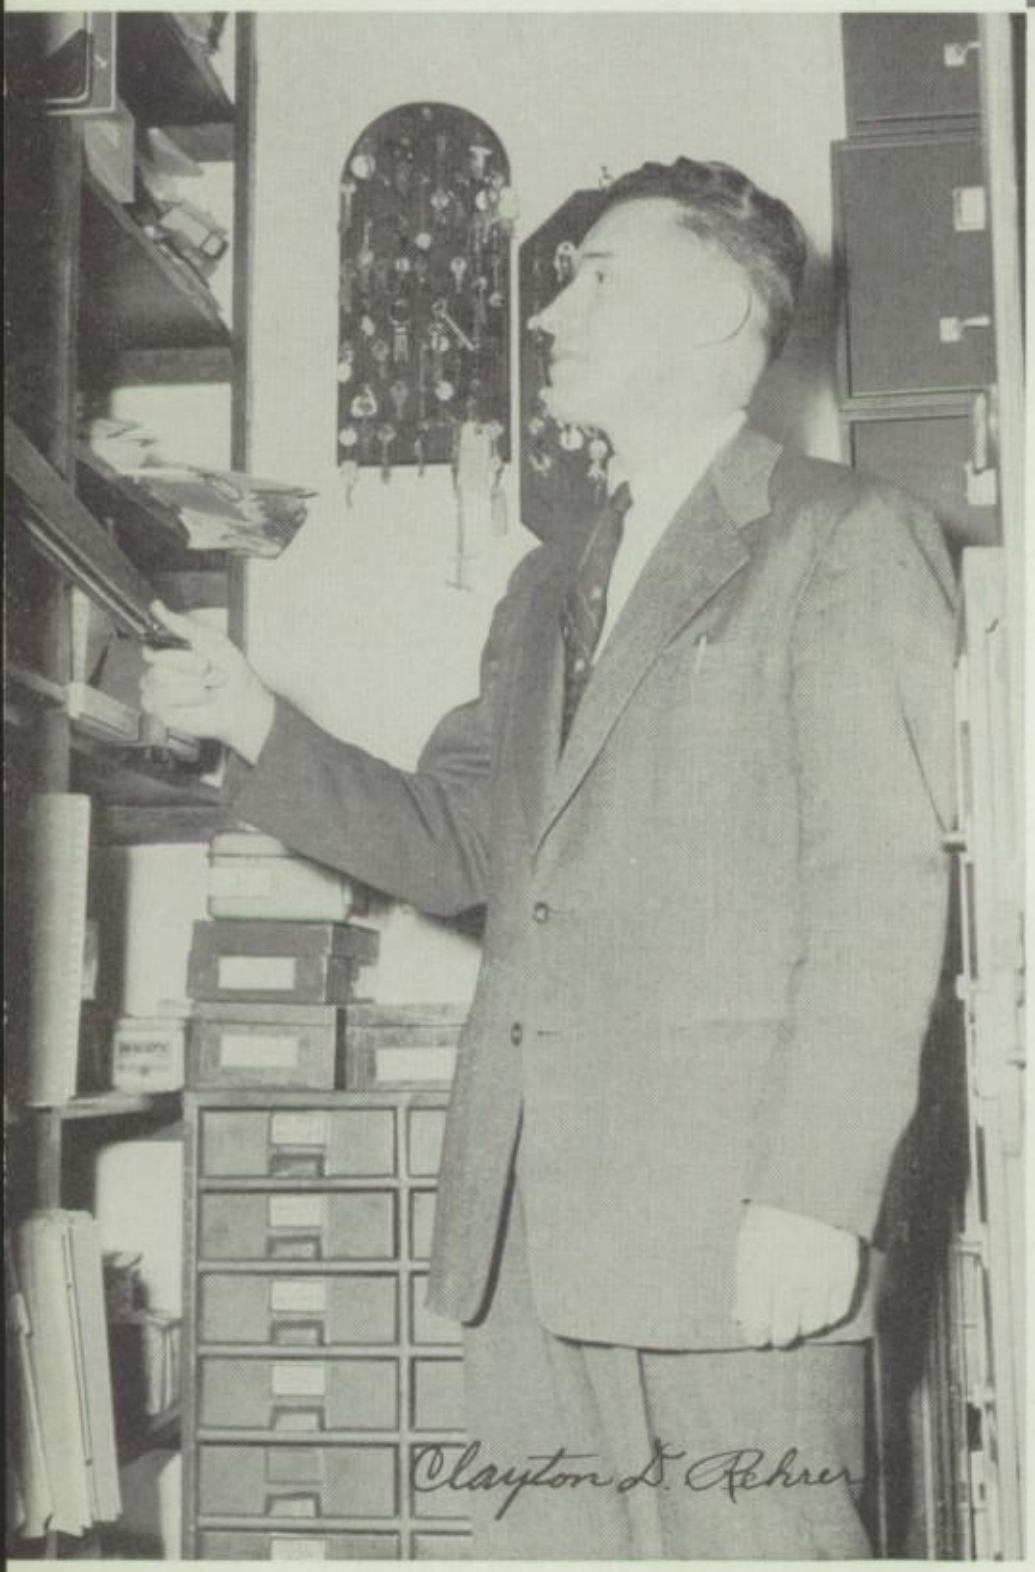
You have projected the embellishments of your yearbook around the theme pertaining to the life and works of the great English bard, William Shakespeare.

As a master of prose and poetry his influence on the Language Arts has long been felt in programs of learning activities of all youth the world over.

There is need today for a rejuvenation of interest in the classical and cultural life of the scholar, even though such efforts are usually minimized as to the degree of importance in reference to the areas of learning of science and engineering. Your work in areas such as English, Spanish, German, Latin, The Junior Classical League, The Fine Arts, Social Studies, "Education Beyond the Classroom Walls," all contribute in having you meet with difficult situations brought about by the highly complex social order of our times.

Best wishes to everyone in selecting a life's vocation fitted to his natural abilities improved by high school education, and always strive to keep nourished the great spiritual feelings of your human heart and soul.

Supervising Principal



Two Gentlemen from Verona

Graduation from high school is a goal achieved, an essential in the great "game" of modern living. This is a season of joy, as your ambition becomes a reality and your hopes for the future are brightened.

How much does your high school diploma mean to you? You have often been reminded of the importance of a high school education. Now you will begin to reap the benefits of your perseverance. Whatever the degree of your achievement may be, we ask you to be mindful of the public school which offered you the opportunity for a successful future. The public school looks to you for continued interest and support as you assume the role of an adult. The need of an educated citizenry in a democracy is of paramount importance if we are to successfully combat those forces which attempt to destroy our way of life.

We have many pleasant memories to cherish as we look back over the few short years which you spent at Wilson High School. You will always be a part of Wilson and we ask you to return often to share the joys which are ours, because you were here and are now among our list of alumni.

Principal

The school board: Alfred Steckel, John From, William Tobias, Treasurer; Robert Shearer, Vice President; Henry Eckenroth, Charles Adams, Sr., Wallace Tomey, Stanley Heckman, Donald Miller, James Moyer, President; Mark Yocum, Secretary; Clayton Rehrer, William Kutz, Millard Reiff, Richard Bollman, Arthur Lutz, John Reigel, Mrs. Warren Lamm, Mahlon Miller, missing: Harold Biedler.

The driving mehcanism, the school board, has obtained approval from the state to proceed with the construction of the new high school at an estimated cost of $3,100,000. A photo copy machine, two new school buses and an additional 12 acres plus two lots have been purchased.

Assistants to Principal Rehrer, Mr. A. Miller, senior high, and Mr. Moyer, junior high, enjoy a humorous incident amidst many school problems.

The office staff, D. Ulrich, Mrs. M. Emes, R. Keener, R. Reinert, Mrs. T. Lehr and Mrs. C. Brunner, missing from the picture, have the complex job of managing the school's business.

At an English Department meeting, Dr. Constein, supervisor, explains the illustrations of a few of Shakespeare's most famous characters to Mrs. Hoffman, Mrs. Herb, Miss Zug, Mrs. Miller, Reading Consultant; Mrs. Riffle, Miss Sheidy, Mrs. Rollman and Mr. Haas.

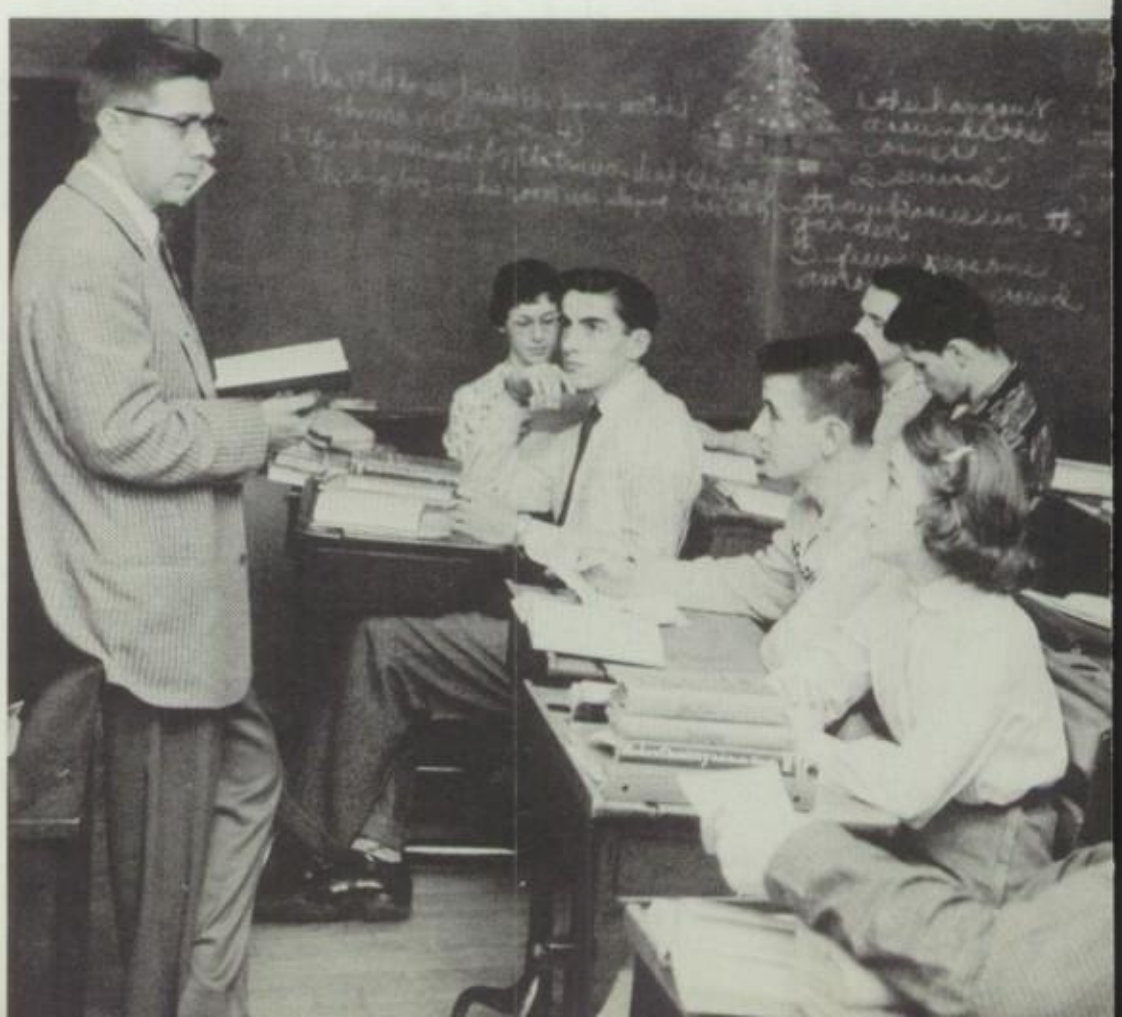
And when I ope my lips, let no dog bark

To read, to speak, to write — the three fold purpose of the English Department is to enable the student to do all of these well. Through the literature course one not only becomes appreciative of prose and poetry, but also learns to improve his reading skills. Public speaking is a necessity which gives the student poise and self-assurance in front of others. The writing of themes and term papers throughout the year better students' composition ability. The senior journalism course, whose students are members of the "Spectator" staff, endeavors to teach the fundamentals of journalistic writing.

As they study the literature of England, these 10-C-1 students and Miss Zug associate the authors with their homeland.

" 'This is the forest primeval, ' " quotes Mrs. Hoffman to her eighth grade class as they begin the classic, Evangeline.

Reviewing the fundamentals with the 11-C-G section, Dr. Constein explains the necessity for a good background in grammar.



"Mein hund, mein hund."

Chile con carne a la fiesta de Navidad.

It's Greek to Me

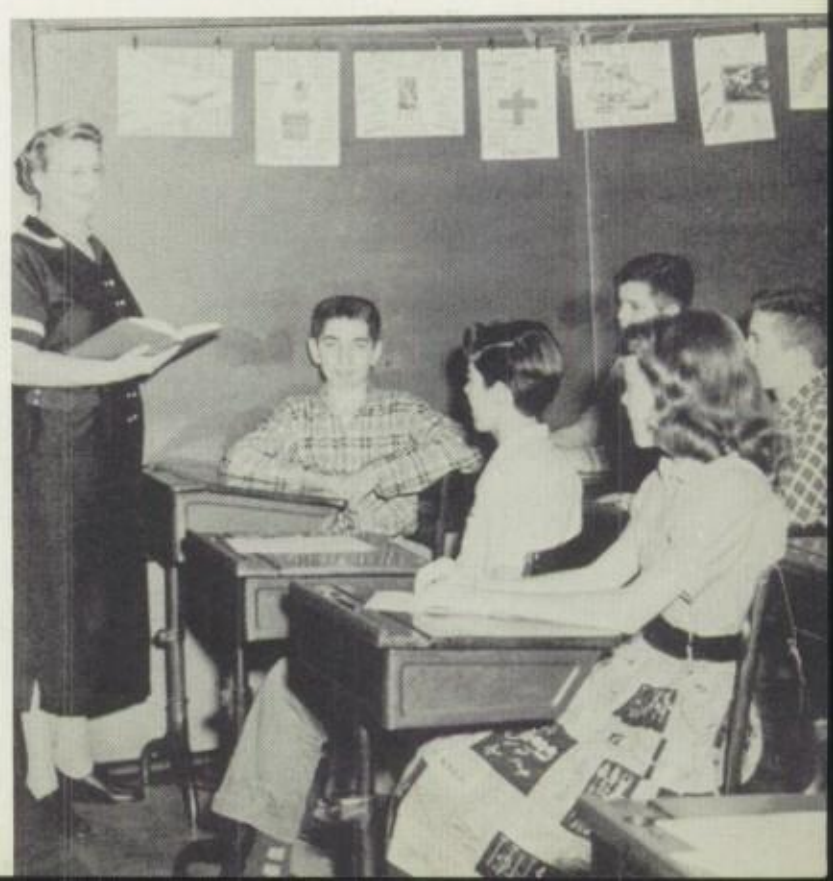
D. Lutz, L. Stauffer and L. Barth, members of the German I class, rehearse a German play while Betsy Greene, authoress, directs.

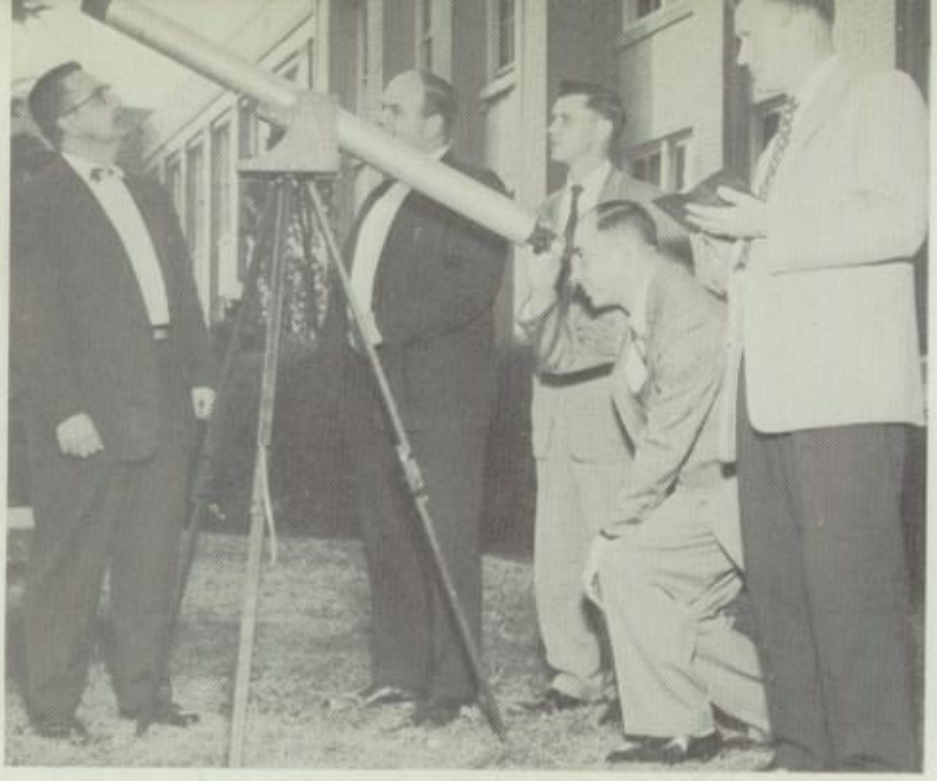
P. Guresh dishes up the chile con carne at the Christmas Fiesta of the Spanish II class. The pinata in the shape of an elephant was made by N. Fegley.

Mr. Haas, Mrs. Rollman, Miss Seitzinger, and Mrs. Herb, teachers of German, Spanish, and Latin, respectively, illustrate the importance of foreign languages, classical and modern, in our everyday lives.

Members of the 10-C-2 class listen as Miss Seitzinger stresses the importance of Latin. Displayed are posters depicting the use of Latin in English.

Through the advancements in transportation, the countries of the world have been drawn closer together. This has made the teaching of foreign languages in high schools a necessity. Studying a foreign language not only teaches students to speak the language, but also gives them a background in the customs of the country, helping the student to understand the people themselves.





Peek-a-boo! These amateur astronomers of our Science Department, Mr. Klingler, Mr. D. Evans, Mr. Guistwite and Mr. Moyer watch as Mr. Arner, department head, adjusts the telescope so he can locate Venus tonight.

Mr. D. Evans instructs L. Wehr and R. Chelius on how to illustrate the presence of atmospheric pressure.

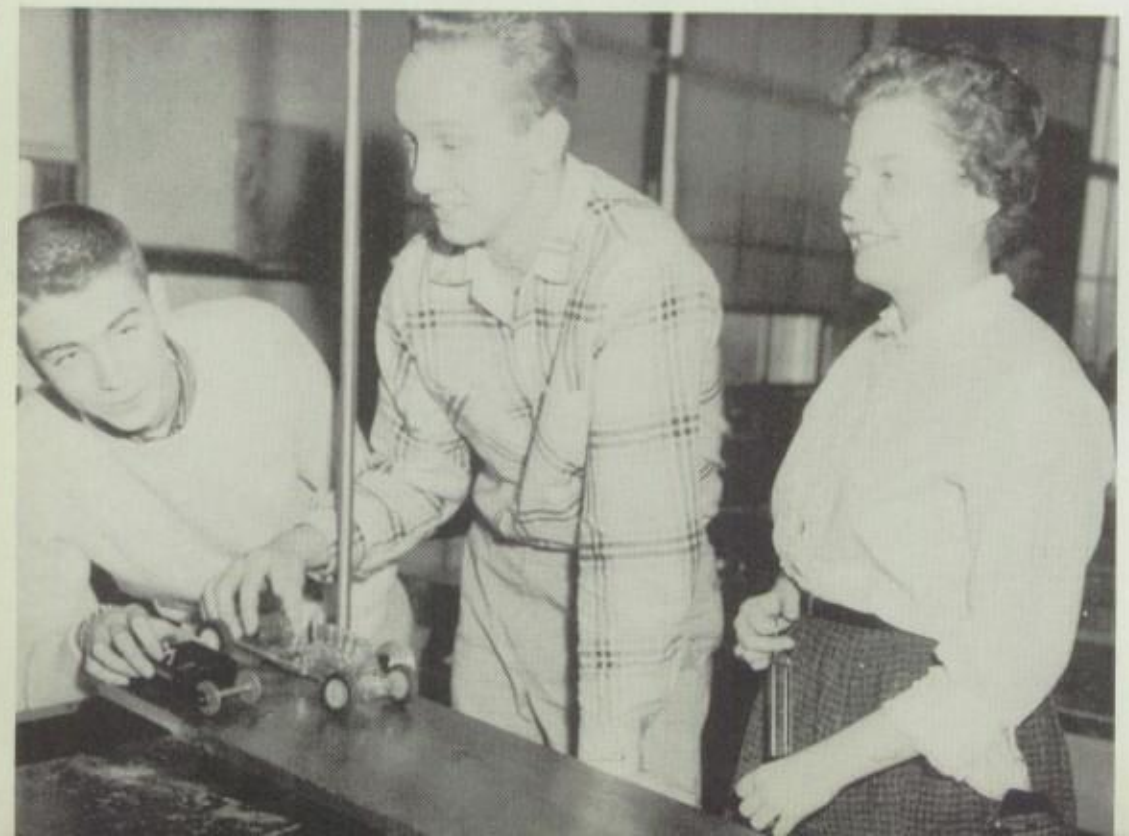
I see thy glory like a shooting star

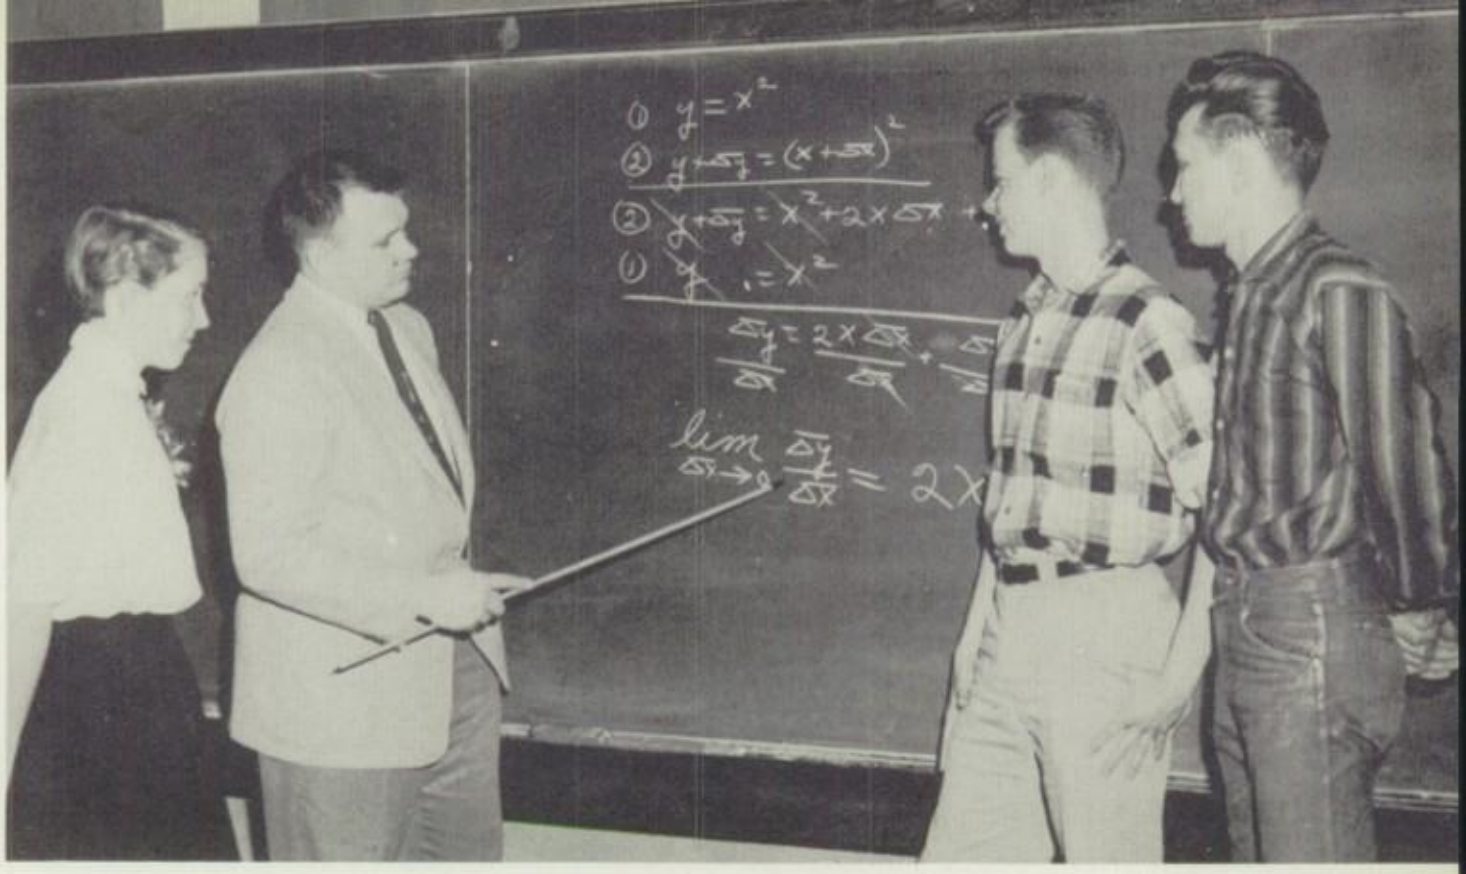
Whether the student plans to be a nuclear physicist or a housewife, a knowledge of science is an important asset. General science, biology, chemistry and physics are all offered by the department.

"I ain't got no body," replies Oscar as Mr. Klingler points out to his 10th grade class the chest cavity and describes its functions.

J. Moyer observes one car guided by B. Promos and another by M. Keller as they perform the experiment pertaining to the law of frictionless machines.

Mr. Bear, Mr. Arner's student teacher, explains an experiment in chemistry on the dispersion of colloids to J. Lambert and A. Fritz.





Mr. Shaak explains an advanced Algebra problem to F. Koller, K. Securda and G. Wolf.

The Comedy of Errors

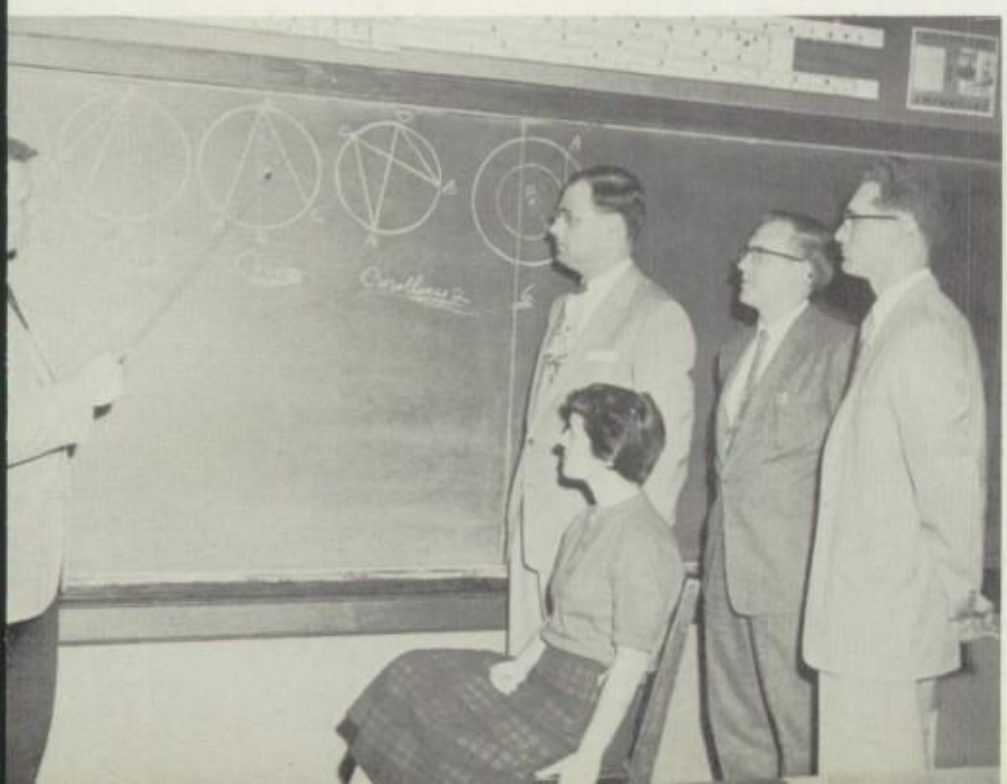
Mathematics is the tool which has enabled man to break through the mysteries surrounding nature. With the dawn of the Atomic Era, it has become more and more prevalent that mathematics is an integral part of modern youth's education.

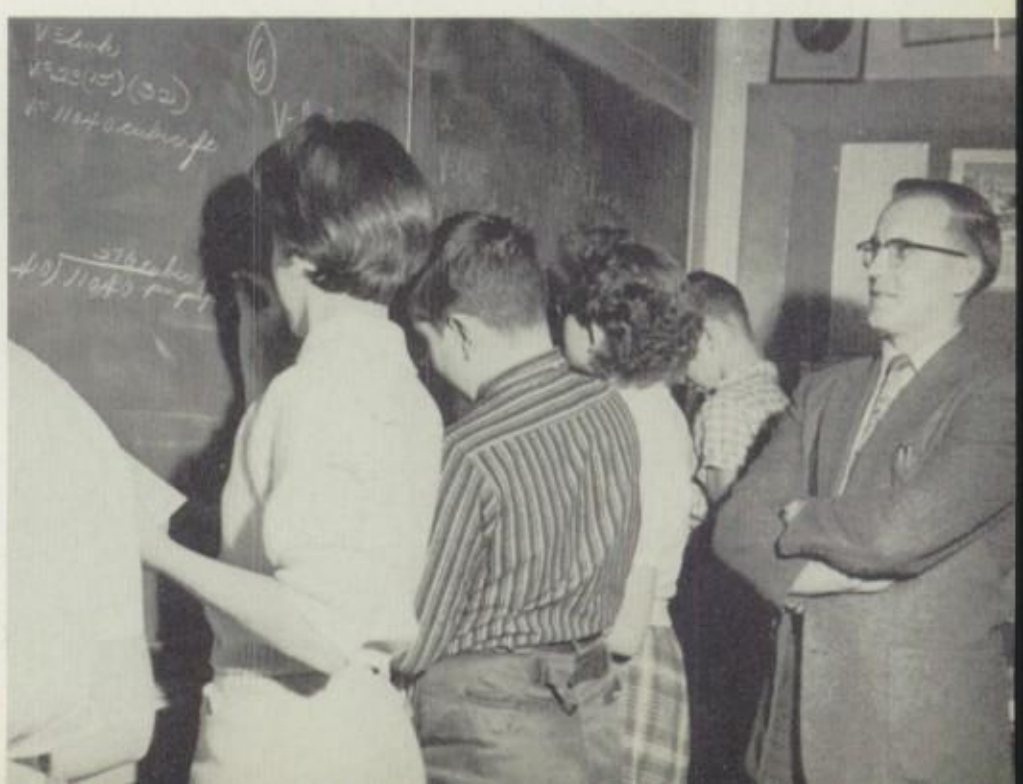
Wilson's Mathematics Department has the very important job of giving high school students the foundation in the basic fundamentals of mathematics which is so greatly needed today.

Terry Rhoads, a member of the 10-G math class, seeks help from Mr. Friend in preparing his homework assignment.

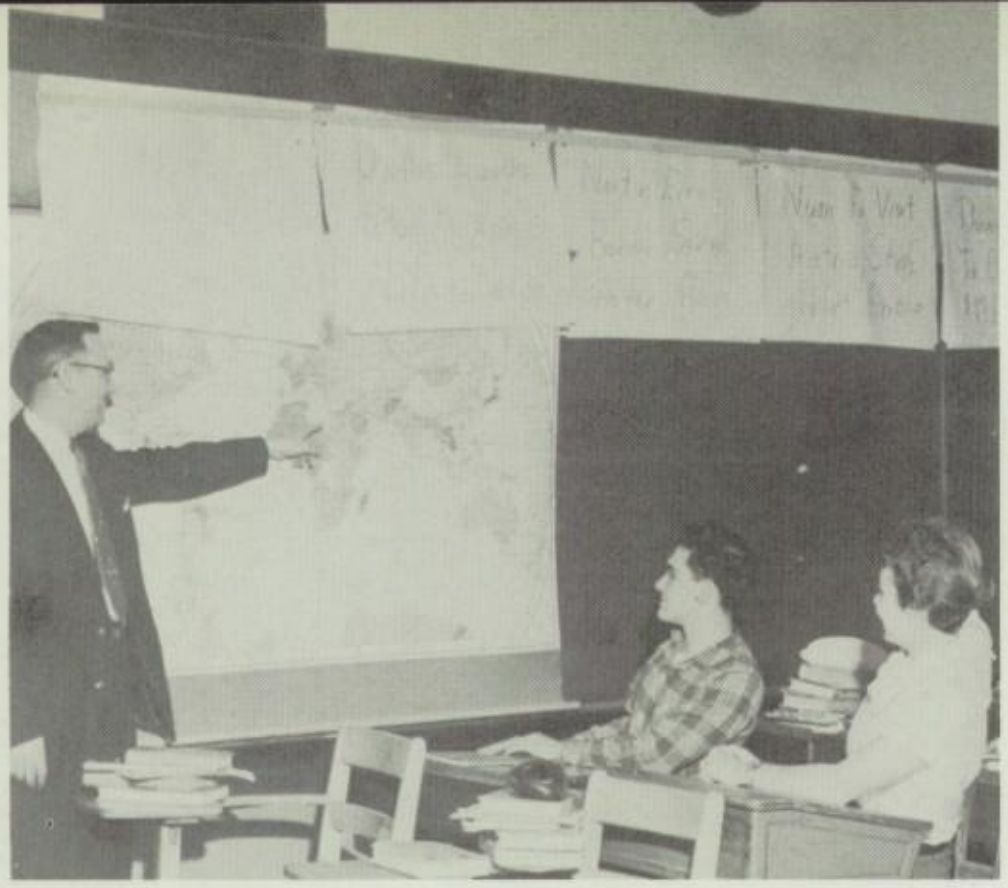
"Given a circle with point 'o' as the center . . . ," Mr. Shaak, department head, explains Case III of a lengthy plane geometry theorem to Mrs. Grater, Mr. Friend, Mr. E. Evans and Mr. Stevens, other members of the department.

Carefully watching for errors, is Mr. E. Evans while members of his 8-2 math class put problems on the blackboard.





True is it that we have seen better days

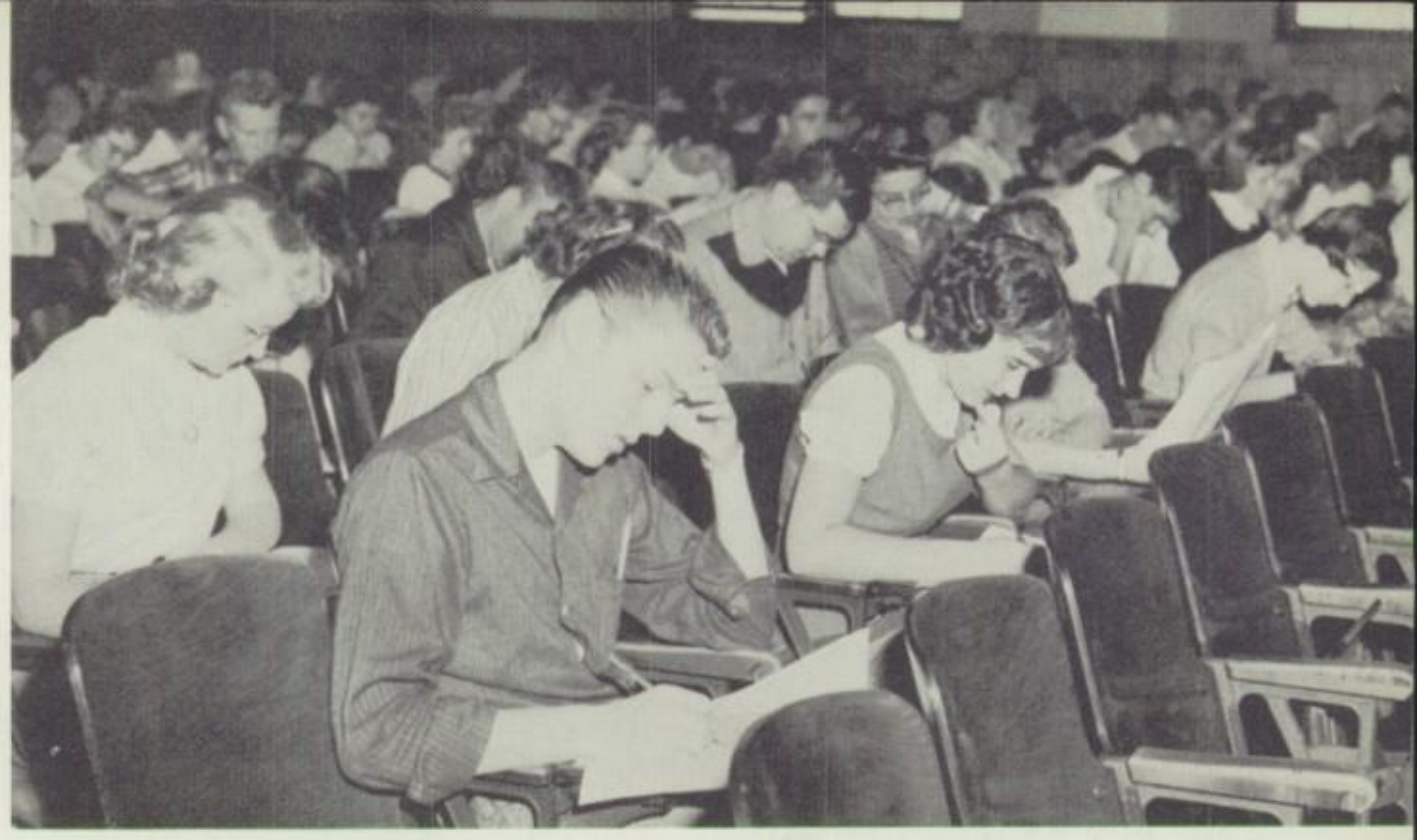


Mr. A. Miller points to some of the trouble spots in Africa as he explains a world problem to his 11-C-S section.

Taking time out from their civics class to laugh at a joke are Mr. Wise and the 9-G-V section.

The Social Studies Department endeavors to give the student a background in previous history which can be applied to current happenings. It is felt that by thoroughly understanding the underlying causes of past history, one can better analyze and appreciate the problems of today. In ninth and twelfth grades the student has civics and PAD to help him become well acquainted with his own governments, their difficulties and advantages. In tenth and eleventh grades American and world history are studied. To make students conscious of the state of the world, current affairs are discussed and analyzed.

Mr. L. Miller, Social Studies Department head, presides over a department meeting. Seated are Mr. Huffert, Mr. Mahon, Mrs. Lambert, Mr. Griesemer, Mr. Kouvaris, Mr. Orlando, Mr. Moyer, Miss Spencer, Mrs. Herb and Mr. Wise.



"Golly, is this rough!" thinks Charles Aten as he and the other juniors ponder over the Juniata College Test.

The quality of mercy is not strained

Through the Guidance Department students are helped with school and personal problems. Regular guidance classes, where the student learns to understand himself and others and is given help in choosing his course, are part of the ninth grade curriculum. For the next three years the student is counseled in preparation for the future. Miss Seitzinger and Mr. Derr work tirelessly in the final year to give special attention to the seniors.

Miss Seitzinger, Dean of Girls, Mr. Huffert, junior high counselor, and Mr. Derr, school psychologist, peruse the Rider College Bulletin.

Miss Seitzinger explains the College Entrance Examination Board Application Forms to Beverly Gring during an interview.

Through a personal interview, Mr. Derr can help William Lewis plan his future career.

The Merchant of Venice

The commercial department offers instruction in shorthand, typing, bookkeeping, office practice and principles of selling to those who plan to enter the business world. In their senior year qualified students are given the opportunity of having part time work which often leads to permanent employment after graduation.

Mr. Strunk gives individual instruction to P. Kauffman as the rest of the 10-B-2 class study their general business.

Listening to the dictaphone is A. Goodhart while S. Himmelman and Miss Rhodes look on.

By the happy expressions of Mr. Naulty, M. Sumner and S. Koch, the books in Central Treasury have balanced.

Miss Rhodes checks L. Heiser's and C. Moser's typing.

" 'Neither a borrower nor a lender be,' " suggests Miss Rhodes, department head, to Mr. Strunk and Mr. Naulty as she checks her voucher book.

Which is better, the horse or the horseless carriage? Getting ready to "drag" Mr. Brumbach and Mr. Guistwite in the "Chevy" are Mr. Schwenk and Mr. Arner, who seem to favor the "good old days."

A horse, a horse, a kingdom for a horse

To teach youth to drive safely is the objective of the auto driving department. Through class instruction and actual "in the car" training, the eleventh grade is taught to realize that a car is a deadly weapon and will bring pleasure only if it is driven properly.

Mr. Baggert, an automobile insurance salesman, explains the necessity of insurance to the prospective policy holders in the 11-C-G section.

"Oh, to have a horse!" think S. Drybread and C. Smith as they struggle to change a tire. Other members of their auto driving class are gaining valuable know-how.

Mrs. Unger and Mr. Weber play Shakespearean instruments.

"Is this shield for the Wilsonian?" Miss Sheidy inquires of Miss Berger.

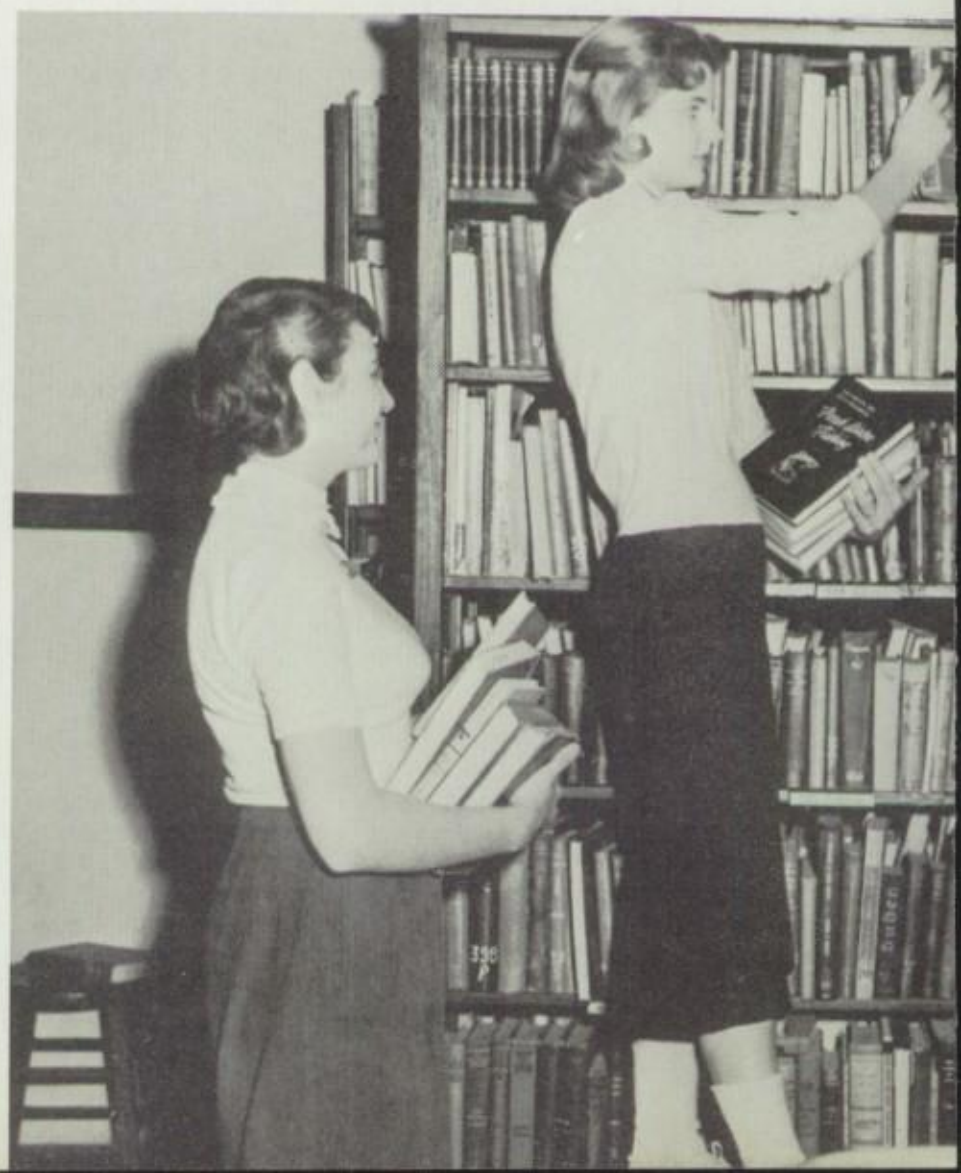
Painting the mural for Dr. Constein's room are M. Hopp and K. Kauffman.

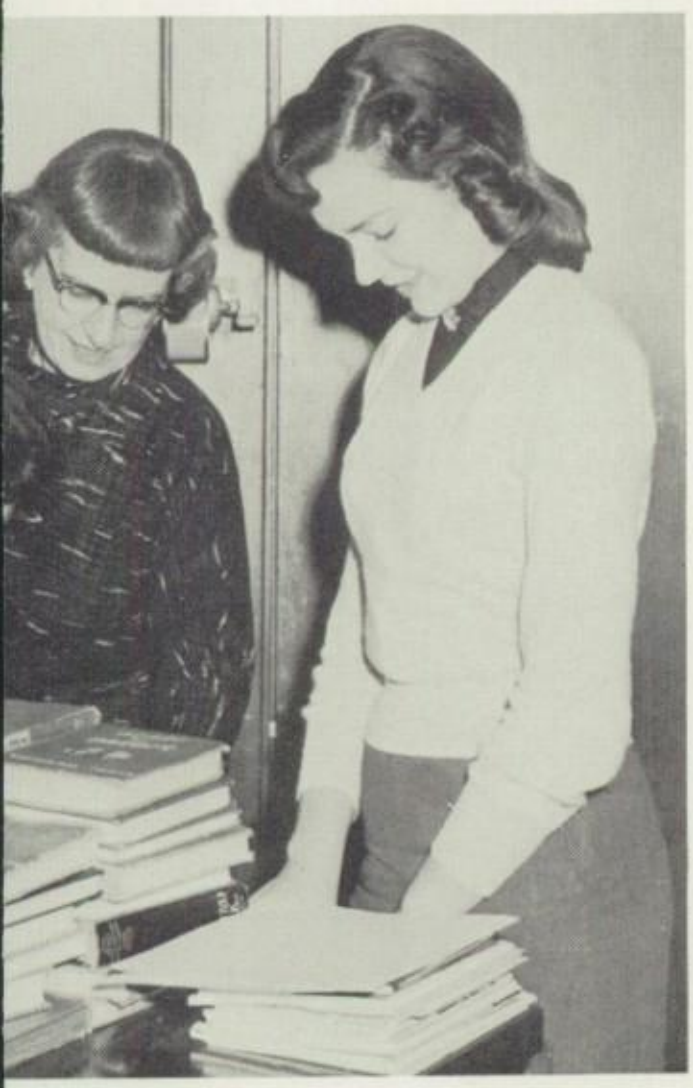
Everyone has a project in the 9-G-1 girls art class.

The Arts alone

S. Dotterer, J. Harkness and J. Fitterling (above) help Miss Sheidy catch up on the work.



enduring stay



Returning books to the shelves are (below) P. Kline, P. Spolski, D. Gipe and C. Lehr.

During an 8-1 music class, Mrs. Unger explains the parts of a baritone horn.

Making Christmas decorations for the Sinking Spring School can be fun, think these jr. high students in Mrs. Bear's art class.

The senior members of the library staff, B. Benson, M. Sumner, C. Trexler, D. Gissler and A. Goodhart, browse through some college catalogues.

Measure for Measure

In seventh grade the Wilson coed begins to prepare for possibly her greatest future career — homemaking. This preparation includes sewing, cooking, meal planning, child care, safety in the home, etiquette and good grooming. The end result is a well informed individual who can take her place in 20th century society.

The members of the Vocational Home Economics course belong to the Future Homemakers of America Club, a national organization. This year through the selling of vanilla, the girls received a silver plated coffee and tea service for use at the department teas.

"Does this look better, Miss Bast?" inquires R. Willet during a home economics class at Sinking Spring. The sewing project in eighth grade this year is making blouses.

Needed: needles, thread, material, scissors, pins, pattern and patience. Now the 9-G-2 girls can get busy.

E. Lamm warns, "Watch your finger, Mrs. Berger," as she and B. Frantz reupholster a chair.

Admiring F. Schwarz's suit is Mrs. Betty Berger, vocational girls' instructress. Miss Adele Bast, junior high teacher, demonstrates her skill at the Necchi.

A touch of nature

The boys in the Vocational Agriculture course receive "a touch of nature" in their studies. Through practical applications and book knowledge these boys prepare for futures in the agricultural field — farming, gardening, forestry and animal husbandry.

All the boys belong to the 4-H Club, a national organization. Each boy is required every year to undertake a project in either animal husbandry or farming. Through these projects the boys can earn money to widen their fields of interest.

"Why is that so?" asks C. Keller of Mr. H. Miller during an agriculture period.

At one of the meetings of the F.F.A. Club, Mr. Miller and several of the club members discuss plans for future programs.

This is a familiar scene — Mr. Miller and a tractor. The head of the Agriculture Department is checking a student's project book.

A beauty contest winner in the animal husbandry department at the Reading Fair is proudly displayed for Mr. Miller by owner, D. Moyer.

School nurse, Mrs. Rettgers, R. N., records the findings of Dr. Harry Deibert as M. Ulrich opens her mouth widely.

Patch grief with proverbs

"Jump ball, but where's the ref?" This is one of the many basketball games played during gym classes.

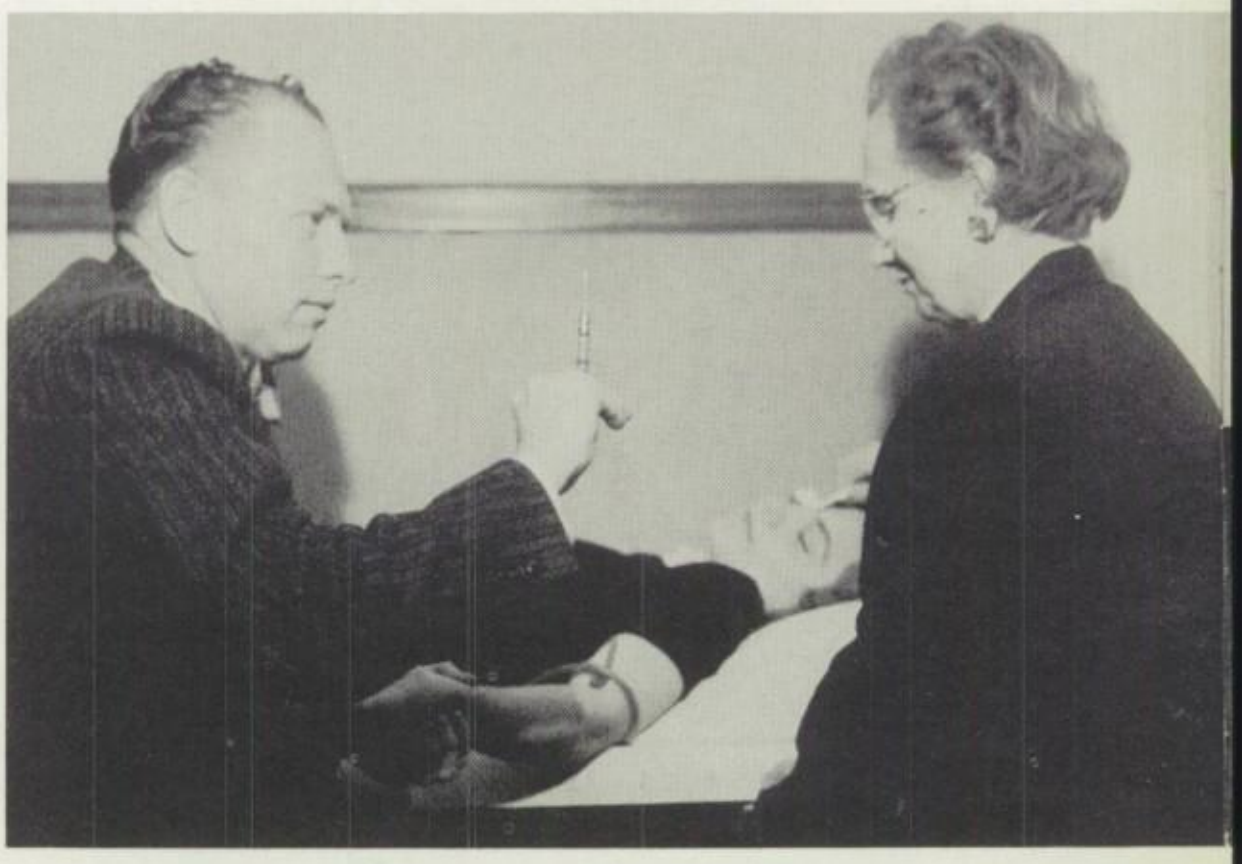
. Hughes watches Mrs. Knappenberger, R. N., ne Sinking Spring and Lower Heidelberg school urse, bandage a wound on R. Angelisanti's nger.



Dr. Johnson prepares to give E. Neufeld a hypodermic as Mrs. Rettgers soothes her fevered brow.

During one of the senior girls' "Preparing for Marriage" classes, Miss Leinbach talks about why it is better to break an engagement than to break a marriage.

Mr. Leininger, department head, explains the correct method of holding a bow and arrow, a weapon of Shakespeare's time, to Mr. Hopp and Miss Leinbach.

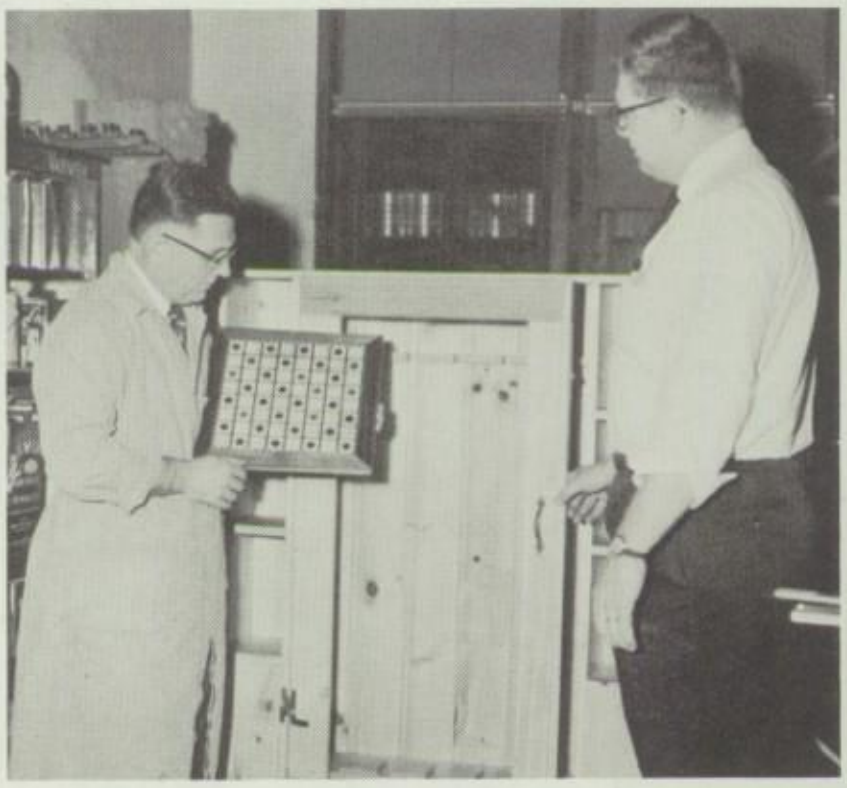
Mechanic slaves with greasy aprons and hammers

Industrial arts is one subject in high school in which boys are definitely encouraged to use their practical knowledge. Many beautiful and useful articles have been made this year amidst the noise of the machinery and flying wood chips. Bowls, lamp bases, lazy susans, chests and coffee tables are a few of the pieces which were made.

In Sinking Spring D. Reber, R. Ernst, J. Raifsnider and J. Beck make stools as their shop projects.

The circular saw is a definite must for D. Lawrence in making his cedar chest.

Mr. Brumbach, department head, and Mr. Schwenk admire a checker board and gun cabinet made by students in shop class.



Busily sanding an end table is D. Owens.

Intricate work is done by D. Tice with the aid of the band saw.

Cookery is become an art

Food of sweet and bitter fancy is concocted by our cooks for cookery is become an art! Where else but the Wilson cafeteria can one buy such delicious food at such reasonable prices? Our cookery artists are Mrs. Kirlin, Mrs. Finefrock, Mrs. Lebo, chief artist, and Mrs. Reedy.

A thing of custom

Constantly keeping our school spic and span are our co-operative janitors, Mr. Balthaser, the late Mr. Brown, Mr. Sensenig, Mr. Hadesty and Mr. Schmoyer. A thing of custom is the job of these men. Mopping, sweeping, general cleaning and locker fixing are all part of the everyday work of the janitorial staff.

Mr. Adams, who seems to be sweeping off the bus roofs, has recently been added to the janitorial staff.

Ride on

Through sleet and snow, school bus drivers go. The "line-up" is Mr. Hepner, Mr. Reedy, Mr. Weitzel, deceased; Mr. Schwenk, Mr. Bentz, Mr. Ruoss and Mr. Dunkleberger.

A long line of parents waits to see Mr. E. Evans.

Miss Seitzinger, the Shirks and the Hostetters.

Mr. Rehrer welcomes Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Stroup.

The Leon Kellers discuss their son's future.

Parents' Night is an annual affair which has the purpose of creating better understanding between parents and teachers. During the evening the parents can discuss with the faculty, grades, future careers and anything else concerning their teen-agers.

Parents' Night

"Now, her grade is . . . ," says Mr. Klingler to Mr. and Mrs. Marchek.

Mrs. Skoufalos and Mrs. Seisler ask about geography grades.

Flower: Pink rose

Motto: "To attain the heights, remain on the level."

Class gift: School flag and Banner

Meeting at Ernst's greenhouse, the Flower, Motto and Gift Committee A. Apsokardu, Chairman J. Moyer, L. Chelius, M. Noble, M. Yoder and L. Smith, ask to see several varieties of flowers in order to choose the perfect one for graduation. Miss Zug is the adviser.

All decorations for the "Snowflake Fantasy" were made under the supervision of the Social Committee. Putting the finishing touches on the immense snowflakes are B. Phillips, A. Cake, Miss Rhodes, D. Gissler, M. Sumner and G. Hollenbach. Missing is P. Kauffman, chairman.

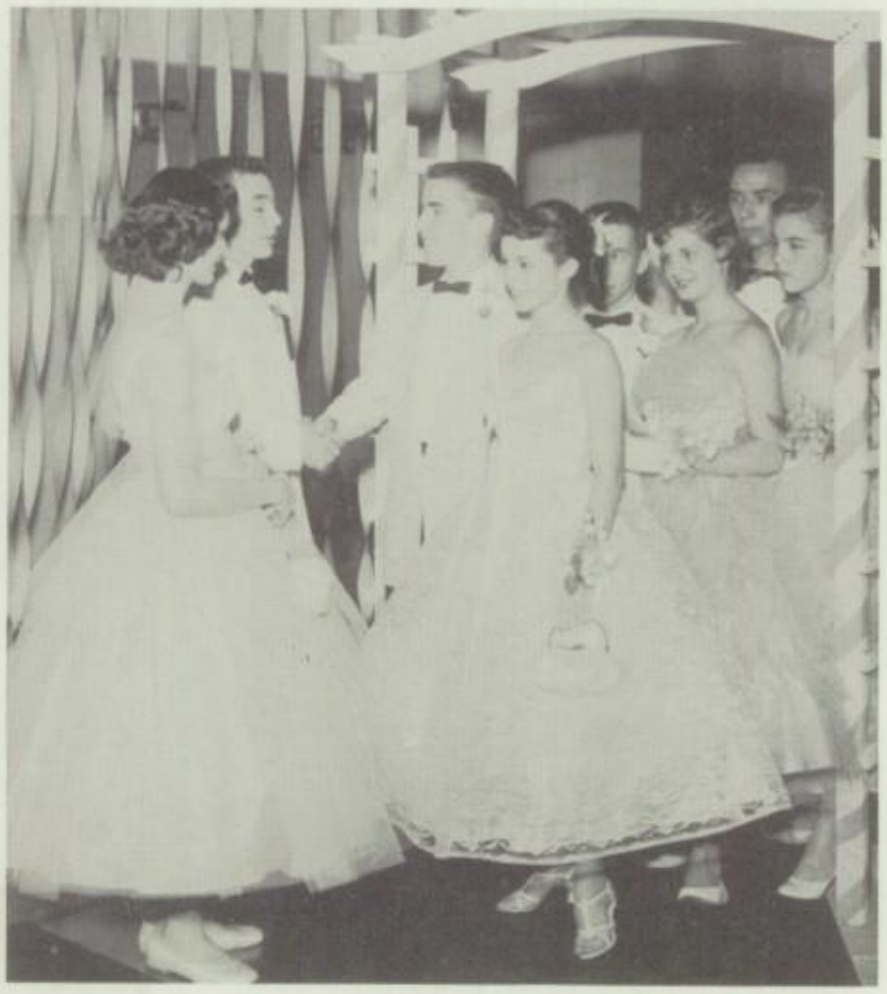
Hostess Ann Louise Goodhart is eagerly anticipating a night of excitement as she greets her date, Host Bill Weyandt, at her door.



The host and hostess greet the Juniors' guests as they enter the Albright Gym's "Garden of Dreams." Beneath the candy-striped trellis are David Harbach and Sandra Lutz, James Fleming and Patricia Spolski, Richard Stuebner and Susan Huntzberger.

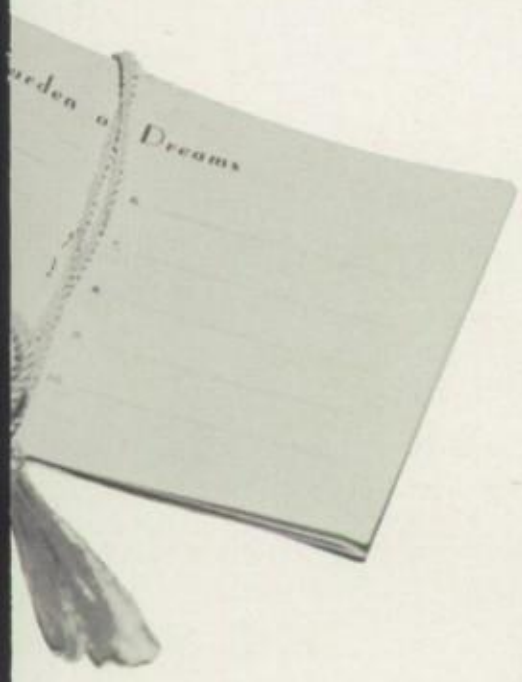
Three tired couples, Nelson Fegley and Peggy Kaufman, Peter Weaver and Carol Kunkelman, William Protheroe and Christine Turnbull, have decided to rest on the turf in front of the gaily decorated wishing well.

A Midsummer Night's Dream

As this "Midsummer Night" comes to a close, Alan Rankin, Mildred Kaese, Elfriede Neufeld and Michael Rankin pose happily by the floral garden in the center of the dance floor.

Sitting by David Harbach, her Prince Charming, Sandra Lutz dreams of romance and knows that this night will long be remembered.

Pictured are the ninth grade floaters, C. Kunkleman, L. Barnes, K. Blecher, A. Berkenstock, M. Ludwig, A. Butkus and R. Forry, preparing the punch and other refreshments.



Meet Me in St. Louis

By Sally Benson

"Move to New York? But Papa . . . " When they learn they are supposed to move to New York because Papa has been transferred, the four Smith girls flatly refuse. Even Mama is rather dubious. The girls decide to "fix" it and start a wild campaign to dissuade Mr. Dodge, Papa's boss, from making them move. Success at last — when Tootie finally sinks her teeth into Mr. Dodge's leg. With the help of Mr. Duffy, Mr. Dodge's "yes" man, things go from bad to worse. But all's fine in the end — Lon ditches Lucille and returns to Ida, the older girls get their beaus, and even Tootie and Agnes can go to the fair.

Highlighting the junior year of activities is the Junior-Senior Prom. This glorious occasion took place on May 18, 1957, at the Albright College Field House. The Wally Spotts Orchestra supplied the music for this memorable event.

11-2 Homeroom — Mrs. Herb

To further their education, the juniors traveled beyond the classroom walls to the United Nations Building, the New York Stock Exchange and the Statue of Liberty. This trip was partially financed through the sale of shopping bags, salt and pepper shakers and ball point pens.

The annual junior card party held at the Sinking Spring School Auditorium on January 28, 1957, and the movie and dance were the money-making projects.

Ten day

Led by their officers, S. Keinard, T. Ziemba, C. Mays and M. Ludwig, the sophomores started the year off by sponsoring the football refreshment stand. Although cleaning up was sometimes a chore, they worked hard and made quite a profit. Another successful financial venture was the class movie, "Ten Tall Men," held on the first of March.

Almost everywhere they go, the sophomores can be seen wearing their red and charcoal grey class jackets, with the novel lettering designed by Dawn Ruggieri. The jackets were purchased this year, and the sophs are really proud of them.

The class trip to Philadelphia, where the tenth graders saw the mint, the Natural Museum of History and Independence Hall, was one of the highlights in their first year of senior high. On the way the pupils stopped at Valley Forge to see the chapel and other historical landmarks.

Seven or Eight young eyed cherubims

In the grade school, children learn the common fundamentals of our culture—reading, 'riting and 'rithmetic. Upon entering junior high school, the young adolescents begin a more diversified curriculum leading up to the more complex study selection of high school. The very important social life of the young people also emerges in the junior high with class mixers, dances and attendance at Wilson High athletic contests.

Angelic smiles adorn the faces of the 8th grade homeroom presidents, L. Moyer, 8-R; M. Moore, 8-H; S. Shinn, 8-2; R. Wolf, 8-S; S. Miller, 8-1.

Mr. Mahon emphasizes the importance of the early explorations of the Englishmen to his 8th grade history class.

Act 4

Honor is the subject of my story

M. Kaese, vice president; F. Koller, treasurer; M. Rankin, president; and S. Lutz, secretary, the officers of the National Honor Society practice for the induction ceremony.

Character, scholarship, leadership and service are the four qualifications for membership in the National Honor Society.

First row: two year senior members, B. Keinard, F. Koller, S. Lutz, M. Rankin, A. Rankin, M. Kaese, J. Moyer.

Second row: J. Morris, S. Koch, J. Rahn, P. Guresh, K. Securda, M. Keough, L. Smith.

Third row: A. Zwicky, C. Matheson, M. Noble, E. Neufeld, P. Kaufman, L. Chelius, U. Toensmeyer.

Fourth row: Mr. Haas, adviser; B. Greene, N. Kratz, F. Franks, D. Rehrer, S. Pfleger, M. Bollman, J. Fitterling.

We'll pluck a crow together

The tri-county debate speakers: J. Reber, B. Greene, S. Pfleger, F. Koller, moderator; F. Dundore, D. Lutz and A. Zwicky will debate the question, Resolved: "that the Federal Government should remove from use sufficient acreage to balance agricultural production."

The junior high debators are discussing for an assembly Resolved: "that the Federal Government should lower the voting age to 18." They are B. Stufflet, V. Nolt, H. Shearer, E. Ohlinger, M. Piro and J. Pawling.

F. Koller, president, conducts a meeting of the debating club held during the fourth period on Friday. Mrs. Herb, adviser, stands by to give suggestions.

In the two lower right pictures are the tri-county alternate speakers, D. Seib, S. Andruzak, E. Neufeld, B. Kinsey, R. Aleshire and L. Hepner.

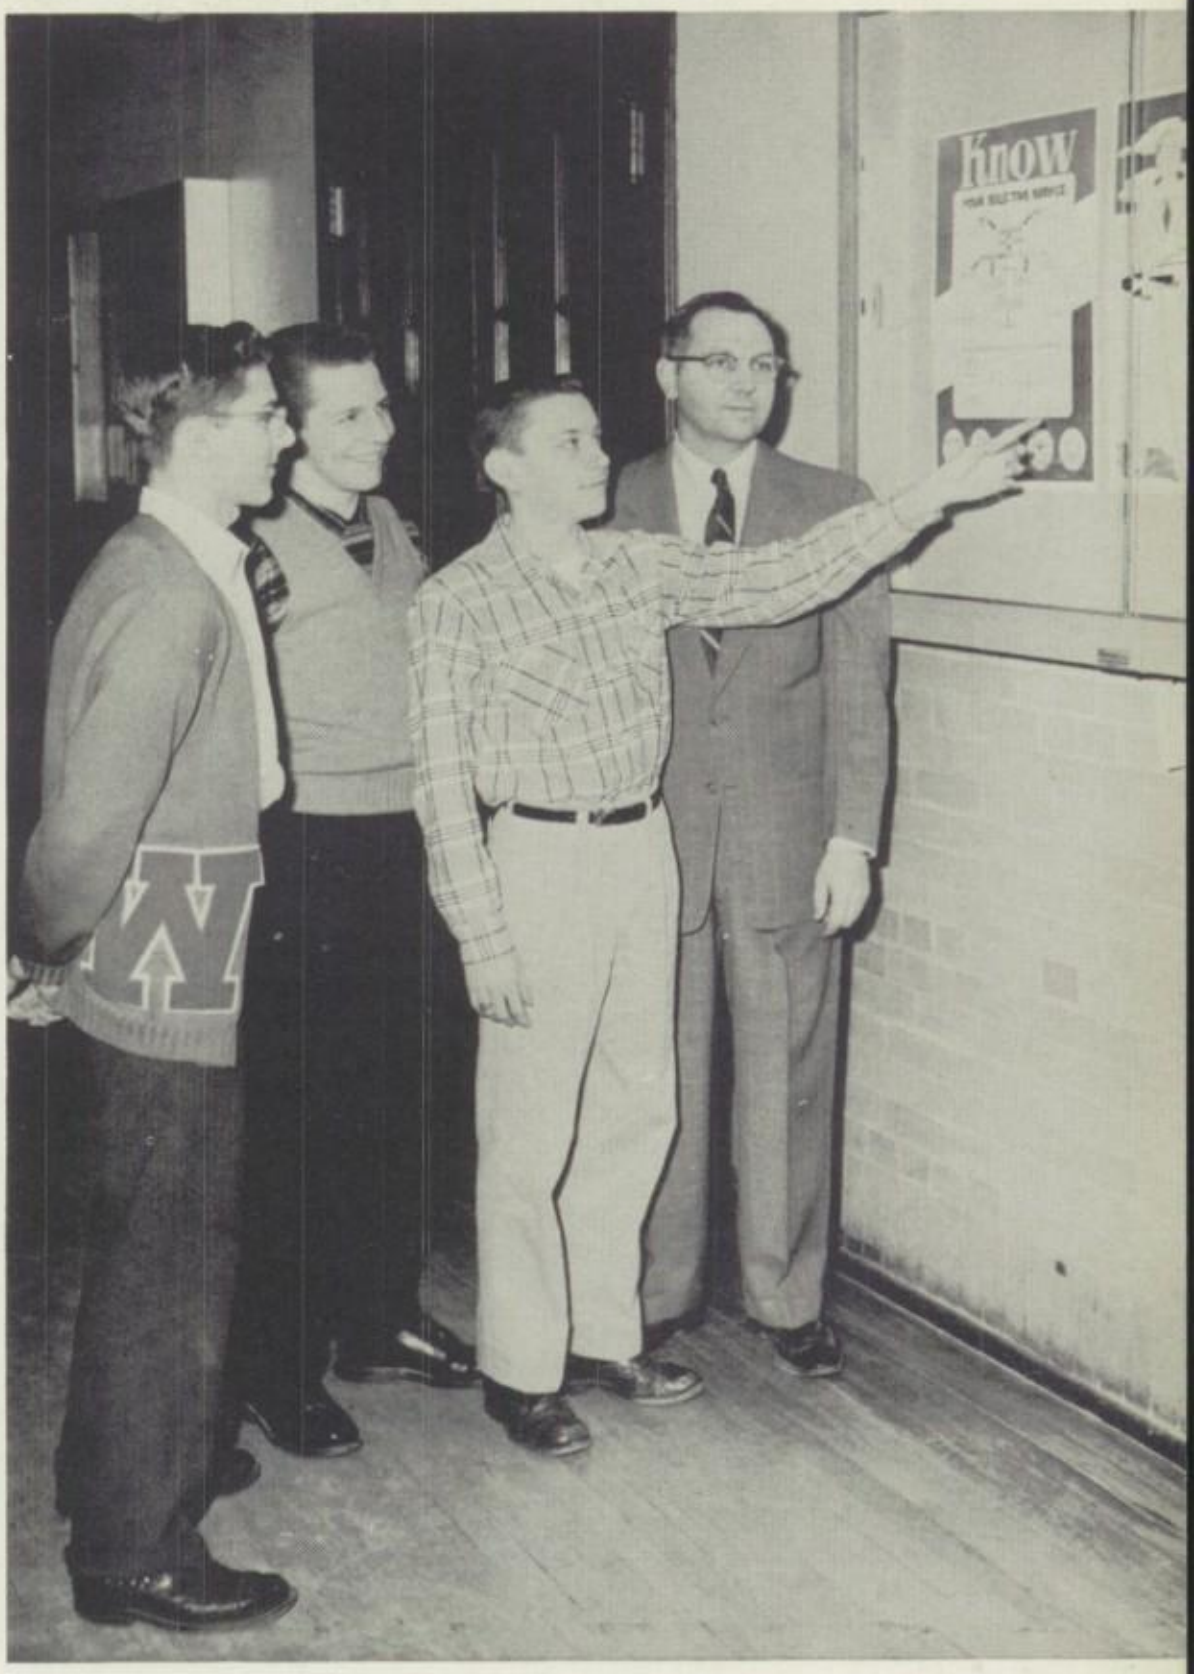
Student Council President B. Keinard gives the representatives some important information to report to their homerooms.

Mr. Rehrer approves the installation of the glass enclosed bulletin boards at a Principal's Committee meeting. The members are D. Reifsnyder, A. Rankin, A. Mengel, P. Speare and A. Fritz.

Admiring the new Student Council pin are the members of the Point System Committee: J. Miller, M. Keough, R. Grimes and B. Kinsey.

"Keep it moving!" is a common cry heard in the halls when these monitors are on duty. First row: A. Zwicky, D. Hengen, C. Beidler, D. Harbach, captain; F. Vastine. Second row: A. Rankin, M. Rankin, D. Ruth, L. Brown. Third row: N. Eyrich, D. Hepner, W. Hoffman, F. Reedy, J. Hinkle.

life of the law



Student Council President B. Keinard, Secretary-treasurer W. Mengel, Vice President A. Fritz and Mr. A. Miller, adviser, admire one of the glass enclosed bulletin boards installed in February by the Council.

The Student Council is an organization which allows the students to practice self-government. Through democratic procedures students express their ideas which are either rejected or passed depending on the wish of the student majority.

Two new bulletin boards for the lobby and a new drinking fountain were purchased this year. Buying a new television set and having all the school radios repaired can also be attributed to the Council.

Showing some of the work they have done this year are members of the Scrapbook Committee: W. Gensemer, C. Hill and M. Kaese.

Plenty of confusion is found in room 204 when the Spectator staff is faced with meeting the printer's deadline. Dr. Constein sits in to help the editors with their last minute problems.

Receiving his assignment for a Spectator picture is G. Hostetter.

"We're not in the red yet?" seems to be the thought of the Spectator business staff. A. Fritz, S. Kreisher, M. Rankin, R. Moyer, C. Gring, A. Mengel, A. Rankin and D. Seib check the treasurer's book.

If music be the food of love, play on.

"If music be the food of love, play on" is the thought in the minds of many students at Wilson, musicians or not.

The Music Department at Wilson provides a source of education in music for the students and a means of entertainment for the listeners. Though the music played at Wilson may not be "as bright Apollo's lute," everyone enjoys it.

The majorettes, C. Williams, head majorette; D. Ruggieri, E. Boyer, S. Huntsberger, L. Bohn and P. Chelius, stand at attention while performing at half time at a football game.

The color guards, M. Hill, G. Hollenbach, P. Hassler, J. Miller and M. Hess, stand patriotically at attention while the band prepares to play the National Anthem.

The alto section of the senior high chorus is as follows: Front row: S. Gish, B. Burkhart, L. Dauber, L. Hepner, B. Benson. Second row: C. Moyer, D. Lutz, P. Snyder, L. Oldt, D. Pawling. Third row: C. Trexler, E. Neufeld, V. Carr, J. Kunkelman, G. Hollenbach. Fourth row: N. Rieser, A. Hoffman, L. Ernst, M. Bollman, B. Gring. Fifth row: D. Rehrer, F. Franks.

The soprano voices of the chorus belong to the following: Front row: D. Gissler, B. Greene, I. Greth, J. Dundore, C. Williams. Second row: F. Klahold, M. Keough, M. Kaese, A. Mengel, C. Mays. Third row: N. Kratz, J. Kissinger, E. Boyer, N. Scholtes, P. Sands. Fourth row: S. Lutz, J. May, N. Snyder, A. Meinholz, J. Moyer.

About to begin rehearsal are the masculine members of the mixed chorus. Front row: B. Kinsey, H. Stern, D. Mosteller, A. Rankin, M. Rankin. Second row: L. Brown, B. Gring, J. Reese, D. Rentchler, W. Roth, J. Reber. Third row: F. Vastine, G. Crawford, E. Ziemba, B. Klinger, F. Reedy, J. Fleming. Fourth row: S. Hertz, A. Zwicky, P. Moll, C. Slinghoff, D. Harbach, D. Hengen.

The girls' sextet, D. Pawling, V. Carr, L. Oldt, L. Smith, P. Sands and N. Kratz (missing from picture), is a new musical group which has sung at many assemblies throughout the year.

M. Rankin, A. Rankin, A. Zwicky, B. Klinger, D. Mosteller, J. Reber, D. Harbach and B. Keinard make up the boys' octet.

The cadet band consists of junior high students and senior high students who play a second instrument. It plays for junior high assemblies.

Make good play and cheer

Peppy Pony cheerleaders, L. Morgandale, C. Protheroe, C. Talbott, M. Hess, B. Stufflet, E. Vastine and P. Miller step high to the cheer "We're on the ball!"

The lassies of the J. V. cheerleading squad are getting ready for that popular cheer "Skyrocket." Left to right are I. Greth, D. Rehrer, J. Stine, J. Lambert, A. Hoffman, F. Franks and C. Moser.

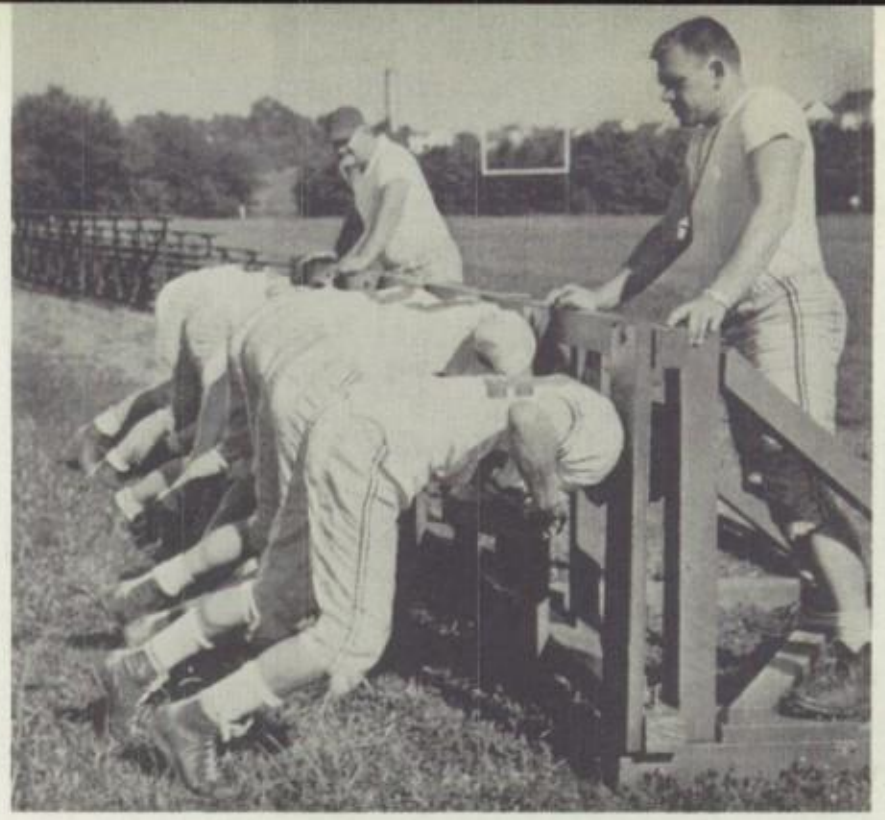
Squatting as Indians for the cheer "Chant" is the enthusiastic Varsity squad composed of J. Kunkelman, S. Koch, C. Firing, C. Turnbull, B. Benson, C. Smith and L. Tobias.

Attired in their new basketball uniforms are N. Eyrich and P. Ori. The girls' suits were purchased by the Student Council and the boys' uniforms by the A.A. Watching N. Eyrich shake hands with P. Weaver, A.A. president, are Mr. Leininger, Miss Leinbach, C. Beidler, vice president; Mr. Shaak, Mr. D. Evans, Mr. Arner, Mr. Brumbach and Mr. A. Miller.

The Athletic Association, an integral part of the school's athletic program, finances the school's interscholastic sports.

Miss Leinbach, in co-operation with the A.A., supervises the cheerleaders, who are essential in giving moral support to our teams.

Football



"Come on, hit it! Pump those legs! You're way too high, right tackle!" A group of Prexie linemen practice fast line blocking by shouldering the six-man sled.

Co-captains Scott Weaver and Nelson Fegley, and Frackville's Ted Bloschichack confer with the referee before the opening kickoff.

Blue Mountain — Playing their first game of the season at Cressona in a driving rainstorm, the Prexies defeated their hosts, 12-6.

Frackville — The Presidents earned their second victory, repulsing invading Frackville 34-0.

Governor Mifflin — In a hard-fought battle which could have gone either way, the Mustangs edged Wilson, 14-7, at Municipal Stadium.

West Reading — Not to be easily defeated, the host Cowboys gave Wilson an uneasy time before the Prexies emerged victorious, 20-12.

Warwick Union — The Presidents treated a home crowd to an exciting 25-20 conquest, tabbing their fourth victory in the first night game ever held in the Wilson Stadium.

Boyertown — In a tussle with Boyertown under portable lights, the Bears proved too much for Wilson, 38-7.

Muhlenberg — Assuring themselves of at least the third-place spot in Berks Conference competition, the Muhls turned back the host Prexies, 25-7.

Cornwall — On a bright November day Wilson defeated visiting Cornwall, 20-7.

Porter Township — The Presidents shellacked Porter, 27-0, bringing down the curtain on a record 6-3 season.

Scrambling wildly for a fumbled ball, members of the Wilson and the Frackville squads create a melee of arms and legs. The only recognizable Prexies in the thick of it are G. Leach (90) and B. Durdan.

Co-captains Weaver and Fegley lead the team out for a short pre-game warm-up period.

A horde of Warwick men are in the act of tackle for a two-yard gain. Also in the picture are B. Durdan (92), G. Leach (90) and F. Bitzer.

The Presidents run through a pre-game calisthenic drill. Rigorous training paid off for Wilson's squad, as they completed the best season on record.

Pony Football Coach A. Miller gives his boys a pep talk between halves of a game played at Governor Mifflin. On the left is Assistant Coach Hopp.

Buzzanca prepares to straight arm an opponent during the Frackville game. Buzzy took care of the man on the right, but Jed Bloschishak (56) eventually nailed him from behind. The other Prexy is Ruth (77).

As a gesture of acceptance of the new scoreboard, Mr. James R. Moyer, president of the Wilson Joint School Board, shakes hands with Mr. James Doremus, president of the Wilson Boosters Club during the dedication ceremony of the scoreboard. Mr. Clayton D. Rehrer, principal of Wilson High School, and Mr. Carl F. Reimer, president of the Sinking Spring Lions Club also participated in the dedication ceremony.

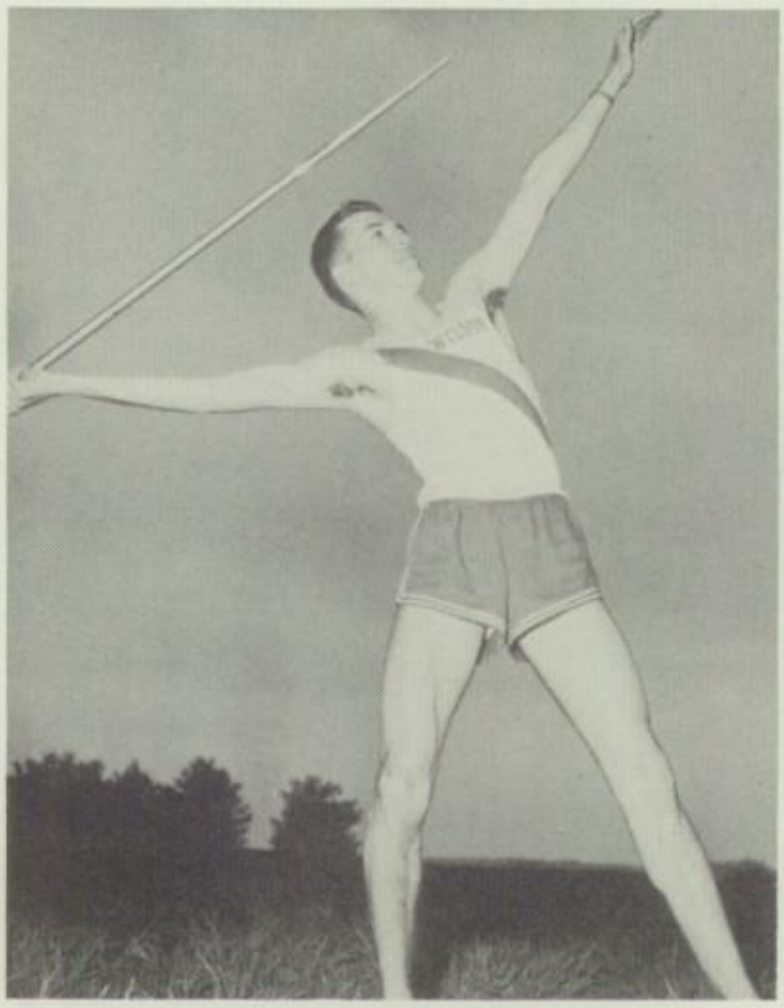
"Let's go!" shouts Mr. Weber to the marching band as they prepare to play the "Star Spangled Banner," signaling the start of a football game.

"We want a swim pool" was the theme of a special football half-time program.

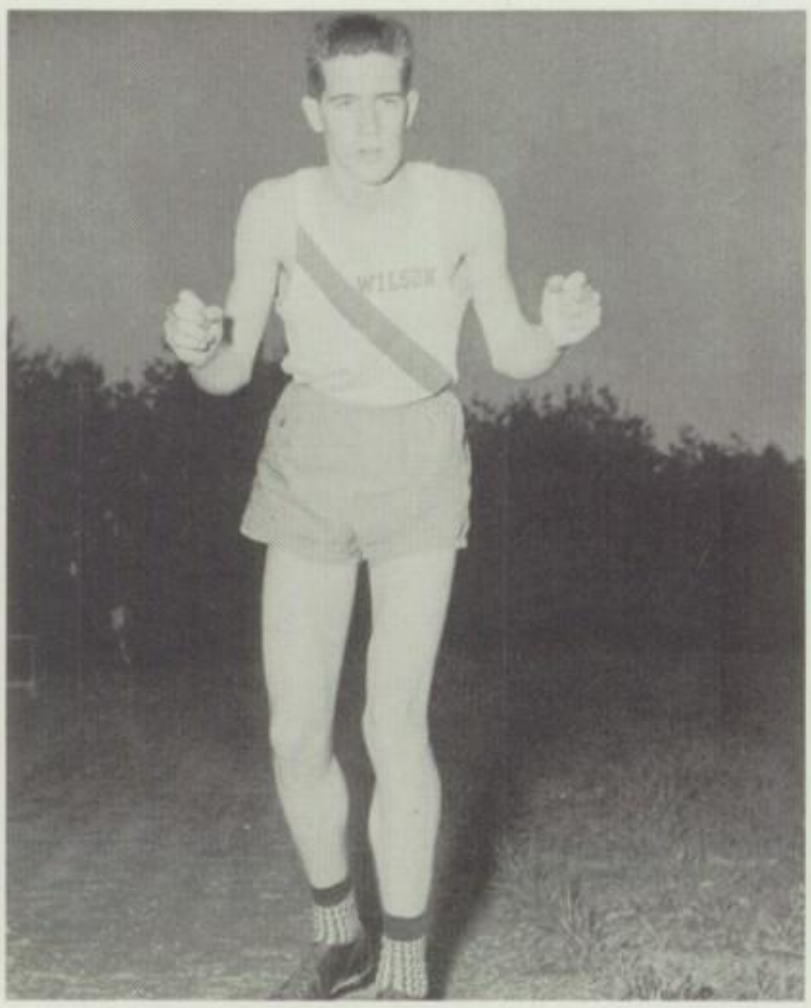
The high stepping majorettes mark time to the beat of the drums while the color guards stand at attention after leading the band into formation.

1955 Football Queen, Doris Rumpf and newly crowned Queen Darleen Gissler pose with the 1956 "cool" court icily smiling on the frigid football field.

The confetti covered fans show their endless enthusiasm as they cheer to victory the "Presidents."



M. Rankin displays perfect form as he executes the javelin throw.



As W. Klinger nears the end of the lap, he gives of his best in order to win the race.

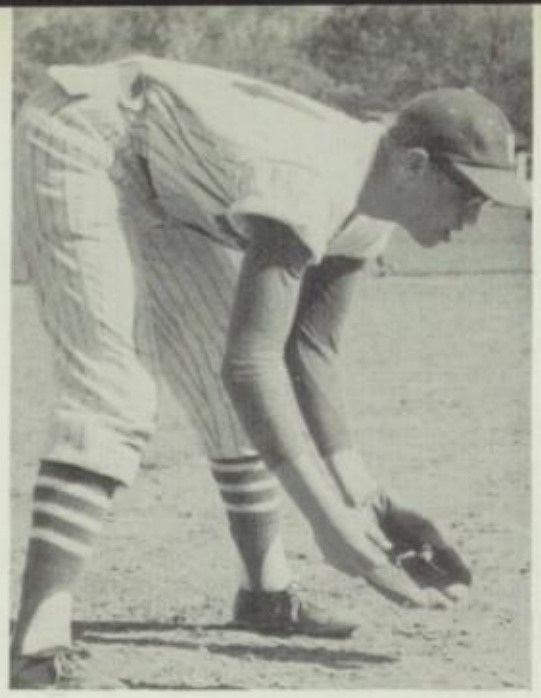
Baseball



Get that grounder, Trouty!

Mt. Penn, 2-0: Denny Hepner pitched a neat two hit shutout for the Prexies. He struck out 12 and walked only one. Bill Trout drove both runs home with a single in the third inning.

Muhlenberg, 1-2: This was a good pitchers' battle and a very interesting game. Because of a costly error in the infield which permitted Doug Clemens to score from third base, Muhlenberg won the game in the last inning. Hepner was the losing pitcher.

Gov. Mifflin, 7-2: The Prexies hit hard this game, collecting 13 safeties. Weyandt, Sanders and Buzzanca each drove in two runs. Buzzanca also hit two triples. Frank Reedy pitched.

Exeter, 11-8: With Keller pitching, Wilson won this game. Scoring five runs, Hepner hit a homerun and a triple. Sanders also hit very well.

Muhlenberg, 4-6: Wilson did not have quite enough to match Muhlenberg, but we put up a good battle. Reedy was the losing pitcher.

Boyertown, 1-9: Wilson was held at bay this game and could manage to collect only five hits. The losing hurler was Frank Reedy.

Gov. Mifflin, 6-7: Eyrich, Sanders and Hepner each had two hits, but they were not enough to win the game. Cliff Dry, the losing hurler, was pitching against Bud Reidel and Mel Heilman, two good hitters who ruined the Prexies.

Exeter, 10-5: Trout, collecting three hits in four trips to the plate, was the batting hero of this game, but Dry was the real star. He relieved Keller in the fifth inning and proceeded to strike out eight of the nine men he faced. Keller received credit for the win.

Mt. Penn, 5-6: An infield error was our downfall. With two out in the last inning Dry juggled the ball and let two runs score. Hepner was pitching.

Boyertown, 3-1: Hepner pitched six-hit balls as the Prexies ruined Boyertown's chance for the championship. Weyandt doubled home two runs in the second inning and Buzzanca stood out in defense with two good catches.

Pitch a curve, Mike!

Get him out at second, Nel!

Make it a homer, Scotty!

The starting seniors, F. Smith, W. Trout, S. Weaver, N. Eyrich and W. Weyandt, look tense before the first game.

The other team members who will be leaving at the end of this year, F. Reedy, M. Keller, P. Weaver, P. Scheider, C. Buzzanca and J. Weyman, smile at a joke.

"Pitch it to me, boy!" yells J. Doremus during a Muhlenberg game.

Coaches Leininger and D. Evans ponder over the prospective starting line-up before a crucial game.

The 1956 tennis season was the most rewarding for us. Here's why.

This was our third season. We lost all our matches the first year while we were learning fundamentals. During our second year we were ready to offer competition, but didn't dare hope to win the county title. However, a combination of hard work and good fortune gave us the crown. But 1956 was our year, the year we planned for.

We swept away all opposition except Wyomissing; they beat us away, we beat them at home. Things looked black in the play-off match on May 3 when Hildebrand and Kern lost their singles matches. Experience told us that we could count on winning both double matches (Hildebrand and Kern, number 1; Ruoss and Haller, number 2). It was up to Ruoss to beat Capozello, to whom he had lost in many previous meetings. Playing magnificently, Glenn did it: 3-6, 6-3, 6-2. We retained the crown!

In the Berks County Tournament, Kern and Hildebrand came away with the doubles crown and Ruoss was runner-up in singles, losing to Dries of Wyomissing.

In the District III tourney at Lancaster, Hildebrand and Kern played excellent doubles. They defeated four doubles teams to reach the final round; then lost to a team from Manheim Township — Clark and Kraner, who went on to win the state title.

All the boys, not just those mentioned in these highlights, are good players. The 1956 team was as well-balanced a tennis team as a school our size can have.

At the Exeter Golf Club last year Richard and Ronald Krick posted identical scores of 151 for 36 holes to win the team trophy in the first annual Berks County Golf Tournament. Each high school in the city and county was allowed to send two boys.

Mr. Brumbach is anticipating a bright future for our Wilson Golf Team. Fortunately many of his good men are juniors and sophomores and will not be lost at graduation.

Our home golf course is at the Manor Golf Club. Mr. Buddy Heckman, the pro-manager, has extended the club's facilities to Wilson High for quite a few years. Both the past and present golf teams have appreciated the privileges and equipment which the Manor Golf Club has provided free of charge.

In the first year of softball as a varsity sport, the girls piled up an enviable record of six wins against one defeat. Behind the pitching of J. Noble and C. Matheson, the girls outslugged their opponents 106 runs to 45.

In the opener with Boyertown, Wilson surprised a strong Boyertown team by scoring three runs in the second inning, one in the third and seven in the fifth. C. Matheson allowed seven hits, all singles.

The Conrad Weiser game started off with a bang, each team scoring six runs in the first inning. J. Noble replaced C. Matheson in the third and held Weiser to five runs while Wilson scored ten.

Wilson met Brandywine Heights at the Owls Field and trimmed them 31-6. C. Moser, C. Matheson and P. Ori each collected homers that game.

The second game with Conrad Weiser saw Wilson again winning, 18-7. Matheson and Noble combined to strike out seven opponents and hold them scoreless until the fourth inning.

The Amity girls couldn't figure out the pitching and struck out ten times while collecting only five hits as Wilson won 21-2.

The best game was against Brandywine at Topton. The final score was 9-6 with J. Bird homering for Wilson and Miller doing the same for Brandywine.

In the last game an improved Boyertown team scored seven runs in the fifth inning to win 11-3. C. Moser and S. Drybred led the Wilson girls with two hits each.

P. Ori and S. Drybred led in hitting with .725 and .675 averages respectively.

J. Bird led the sluggers with two homers, two triples and three doubles. S. Drybred had three triples and six doubles. C. Moser and P. Ori each had a homer.

Hockey

With the loss of eight senior letter-winners, the hockey team faced the season with only five experienced players, three on the line and two in the backfield.

Pat Ori, Frances Franks and Rose Moyer won their letters last year. Rose was injured in the second game and was unable to play until the second last game. Christine Turnbull, Olive Dunkelberger and Virginia Maywhort filled in the line, but lack of experience kept down their scoring.

Dolores Rehrer and Judy Kunkelman, the only backfield holdovers, were joined by Marlene Ludwig, Mary Bollman and Ann Hoffman. Julia Moyer and Mary Lou Reimer shared the goalie position.

In the first game, Cindy Menges scored twice to lead Exeter to a 3-0 defeat of Wilson. The JV team, playing its first game, lost 6-0.

Frances Franks scored Wilson's first goal to help tie the Muhlenberg girls 1-1.

Gov. Mifflin's line proved too strong for our backfield and we lost 4-0. In spite of the score, the team played as a unit for the first time.

Ann Voelker scored all the goals as West Reading won 2-0.

Wilson failed to score in the next three games against West Reading, Gov. Mifflin and Exeter, but Rose Moyer came back in the game with Muhlenberg to score and lead Wilson to its first win in two years.

A total of 45 girls reported for hockey this year, the largest turnout ever. Since only eight will be graduated, the prospects for a winning team next year are bright.

This year's seniors are Pat Ori and Christine Turnbull, co-captains; Olive Dunkelberger, Judy Kunkelman, Julia Moyer, Janet Morris, Nancy Kissinger and Mary Alice Keough.

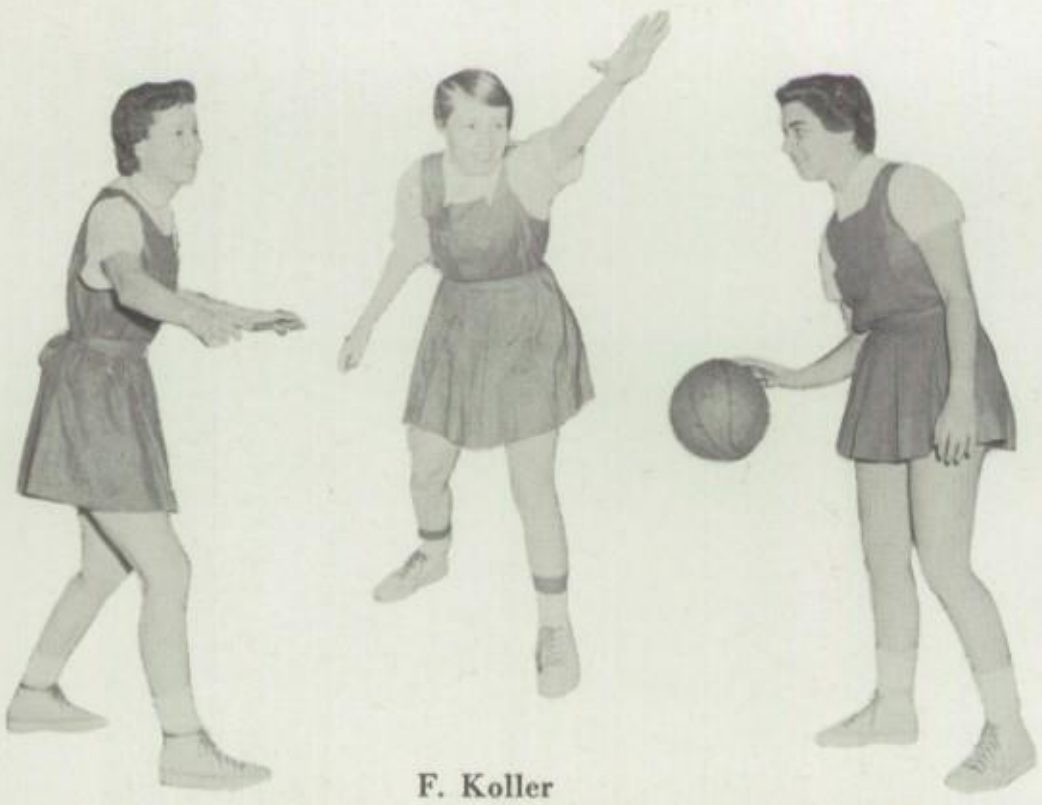
Two points for P. Ori



M. Kaese

F. Koller

P. Ori

Beginning the season without an experienced first-string forward and four letter winners returning at the guard positions, the defense played a big part in holding down the opponents.

All games with the exception of West Reading were exciting. In three games there was only one point difference in scores. Wilson won two of them and Exeter the third in an overtime period. Three other games ended with five or less points difference.

The guarding during the entire season was outstanding. In the game at Wilson, Mifflin scored only 3 points during the first half and in most of the games, the opponents were held to less than 12 points during the first half of the game. M. Kaese, D. Rehrer and S. Smith teamed up in the man-to-man defense while F. Koller stepped into S. Smith's place when a zone was needed.

The trouble in the forward section was lack of height, but as the season moved along the girls used their speed and good outside shooting to outmaneuver the taller guards. K. Blecher was the big gun scoring 114 points. I. Greth and P. Ori were close behind with 93 and 90 respectively and C. Moser, 69. Moser's strength was in handing off the ball to those who made the baskets.

The two exciting games were with Gov. Mifflin and Mt. Penn. Wilson defeated Mifflin in the final minutes of play as C. Moser and I. Greth sank the winning baskets. In the Mt. Penn game Wilson led the way, but had to hang on to outlast them.

I. Greth takes a jump shot as P. Ori screens for her in the Mt. Penn game.

May Day

Accompanying the industrial, intellectual and financial growth of the United States, came an advancement in society. Dancing, one of the oldest social institutions, also grew from a primitive tribal dance for the purpose of pleasing the great White Spirit to the modern dances of today for the purpose of enjoyment.

May Day, 1956, with the theme of "Dances in Review" tried to show this progress in dancing from the American Indian's hunt dance to the present day jitterbug.

The theme of May Day was truly carried out as these three girls danced the popular dance of the roaring "20's", the "Charleston." Decked out in typical flapper outfits are A. Goodhart, J. Miller and J. Kunkelman.

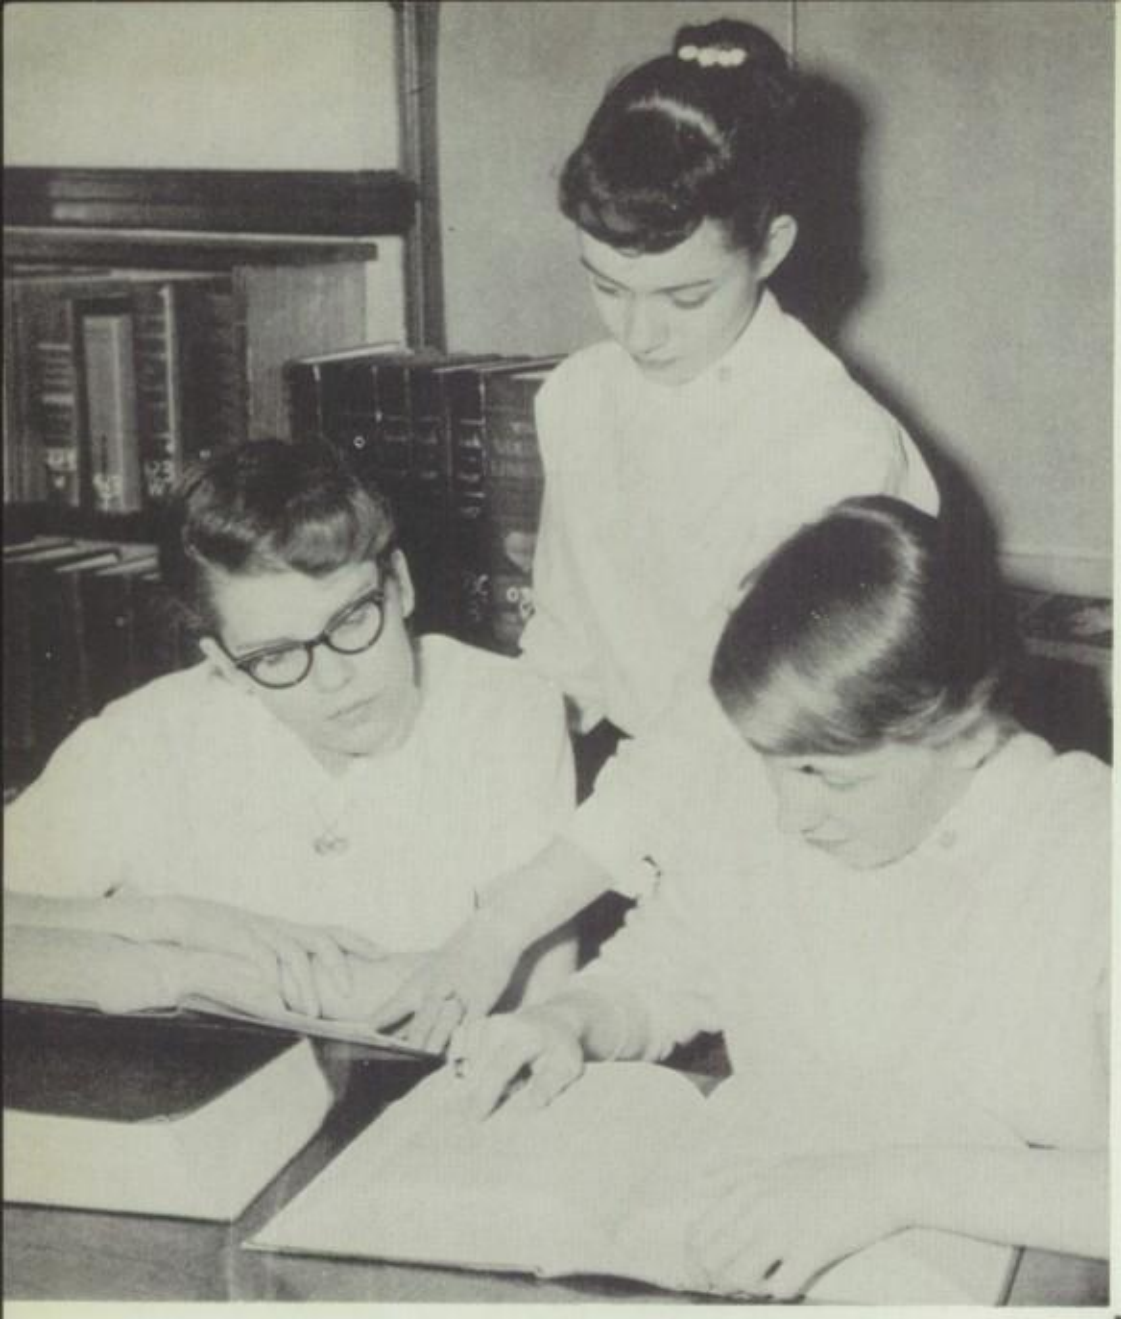
QUEEN JANET MORRIS

Chin up, shoulders back! Sandra Koch crown bearer, Carol Matheson and Aleta Cake, flower girls, Linda Smith, maid of honor, Judy Miller, train bearer, and Janet Morris, queen, practice walking.

The Olympics have served as a means of tying bonds of friendship among nations. At the Olympics men forget their differences in nationality and match their skill on the sports field, rather than on the battlefield.

The theme of May Day, 1957, was "The Wilson Olympics." As the name implies, many sports used in the Olympics were demonstrated. A torch runner lighted the torch to start the program.

May Day committee chairmen plan for the May Day festivities. They are Judy Miller, costume; Darleen Gissler, dance; Sandra Koch, theme; Lynne Chelius, flower; Aleta Cake, script; and Olive Dunkleburger, art.



"Here it is. 'Neils Bohr (1885-), Danish physicist, of the most ingenious interpreters of his generation of the problems in modern theoretical physics.' " Freddie reads from the Encyclopedia Britannica as she, Linda and Sandie look up information for their commencement speeches.

Good Wilsonites for this our year,
Do "dig" the words encloséd here:
Blessed be ye who laud from heart,
And cursed be ye who down this art.

Karen,
To a good friend
and a real sweet
girl. Take care of her!
She is tops. Love Sandy

Karen,
To a real nice girl &
good friend. Don't ever forget those wonderful

Miss Berger.
Love,
Linda

Karen,
Lots of luck to a
real nice girl in 10th grade.
Have lots of fun in school this year. And especially this next 6 weeks. Study hard enough to get good marks
(even if I don't) but have fun.
Good Luck and best wishes for a Wonderful Summer.
Love

Karen,
Lots of luck to a real sweet kid whom I had lots of fun with those Wednesday
mornings when we had our little talks about you know what.
Best of everything to you and that certain someone.
As always
